"Or whether it's stuff from Council Bluffs
Or the Potato belt in Maine;
Or whether it comes from the New York slums,
An underworld yarn again;
Or whether it's bells of a wedding, or knells
Of a death in old Sing Sing,
It's news, you choose, and you never can lose:
So take up your poiper again."

Edward Albert Guelph, M. D. is now the name that you will see, And should he ever lose his thrones He'll make his living saving bones! He makes a stir by staying single, Or even hanging out his shingle. He sure does get publicity, Edward Albert Guelph, M. D.

You can stick out your tongue now at the Prince of Wales—they've promoted him to be a doctor, and girls, they say he's the world's leading heart specialist.

A Hungarian Prince confesses to complicity in a vast counterfeiting plot and drags in the nobility. It's pretty hard to live in a princely manner nowadays without the cash.

Speaking of royalties—and the news this morning is nothing else but—the jazz king has plenty and a honeymoon at Atlantic City ought to be inspiration for more, when he composes the Postal Telegraph Blues.

Ding-a-ling! Dillon, Read & Co. ring up $55,000,000 on the National Cash Register.

In lopping off $610,000 from the budget estimates for the Interior Department Mr. Madden's committee again asserts the absolute control of the purse by the Congress and not the Executive, and reminds us that we have no budget system at all, but merely a co-ordinated book of estimates. Some day when the House has shaken off its economical mood it will boost an appropriation so high that Gen. Lord will need the Lick Observatory telescope to see the top of it.

Speaking of Congressional economy, the army is now in a position to understand just how poor little Cinderella felt, and not a fairy godmother in sight. Letting out the higher paid experienced men in order to take on rookies at cut rates is an extravagance that only the parsimonious can afford.

Senator Borah questions the constitutionality of the flexible clause in the tariff act a little too late. Bold as Congress is in sustaining the Henry Clay tradition with respect of the appropriating power, it sure did make an abject surrender of a priceless right when it gave the President power to levy a customs duty. It will be interesting to observe how long this clause can withstand the highly legal atmosphere of the Supreme Court.

Senator Hiram Johnson's fight on a circuit judge ought to silence the rumor that he had retired to private life.

Sixteenth street shopping is paralyzed as the new traffic signals go into action and Pooh Bah Eldridge is inclined to blame it on the other fog.

Comptroller General McCarl goes way back to one of Henry the Second's laws for a precedent to compel a buck private to buy a service revolver at his own expense, but he would have to go back to before King John's time to find a precedent for himself.

What's delaying the Florida delegation in Congress in demanding that the next Army and Navy game be played in Miami?

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's attempt at suicide is thwarted because she had been celebrating the New Year with hootch. If that doesn't kill you nothing can.

Roumania decides to give Prince Carol a cold potato and let him go.

And here's the Duke of Leinster, suing his wife, a former musical comedy star. If it were not for the royalties where would be the profit in writing?

It begins to look as though the psychological moment for ending the coal strike was about to encounter President Coolidge.

It is understood that the Hungarian noblemen who have been caught counterfeiting French francs are to be turned over to the alienists for trial.

Yesterday's fog is said to have been the thickest this city has experienced since the recent Senatorial debate on the world court ended.

EVELYN THAW'S SON HELPS TO SAVE LIFE BY FIGHTING POISON

Dancer Will Live, Doctor Says; Broken Nose Is Unexplained.

LETTER ON NARCOTIC GANG HELD BY POLICE

Signed "Dr. R." It Mentions Demand for $150 and Other Obligations.

Chicago, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, whose prolonged New Year's party ended early today when she tried to kill herself by swallowing poison, tonight was reported resting quietly at a hospital here, although still in a serious condition.

Doctors who at first believed her suicide attempt would prove fatal, tonight expressed the hope that they would be able to save her life. They said she had a chance to recover because she had been drinking alcohol, which is an antidote for the poison she took.

Dr. E. Thomas Brand, Mrs. Thaw's physician, said in a statement tonight that a great improvement had been shown in the patient's condition during the day, but that she was by no means out of danger.

"No One's Affair But Mine."

Regarding the reason for her act, Dr. Brand said Mrs. Thaw had stated that it was "no one's affair but my own," and added that the ethics of his profession prohibited him from giving out any information as to what he had learned.

The divorced wife of Harry K. Thaw, who several years ago had tried suicide, had been filling an engagement as a cabaret entertainer here, and was scheduled to leave today for Florida to fill a similar engagement.

Mrs. Thaw's 15-year-old son Russell, who is here from the East for a holiday vacation, was with his mother when she tried to end her life. Mrs. Thaw's negro maid summoned him and he prepared an antidote and hurried her to the hospital. His prompt action, doctors said, helped her chances for recovery.

Report of Party Denied.

Neighbors said there had been a party in the Thaw apartment last night, but the maid and Russell denied this, although they admitted Mrs. Thaw had been drinking heavily since New Year's and had returned home Monday with a broken nose.

The maid said Mrs. Thaw asked for a glass of water about 4 o'clock this morning. Going to the bathroom, she then swallowed the poison.

A cryptic letter found in her apartment signed "Dr. R." postmarked Brownsville, Pa., January 1, and beginning, "Dearest Eve," was seized by the police for inquiry.

Narcotic Gang Mentioned.

"Dam narcotic gang were pushing me for the $150," it ran, "but had to meet a truckload almost of obligations and could not connect up with friends here or Pittsburgh; only have a limited time to send on cash; banks and everything would be closed Christmas day. (Got panicky.) Thought Al might give me a lift for a hundred; wired him; no answer."

Another letter, beginning "Dear Florence" and signed "Mama," evidently written to Miss Nesbit, was mailed at Pittsburgh December 30. It indicated that Evelyn had been having trouble with her throat and teeth.

Russell Thaw, apparently greatly frightened over his mother's act, gave a long signed statement to the police and was released. He came here December 21 to spend the holidays with his mother.

He went to a motion-picture theater last night, he said, returning to the apartment about 11 o'clock, and retiring about 1:45 a. m. His mother's maid called him about 4:30 a. m., he said, and told him Miss Nesbit was ill. Learning her condition, he called Dr. Brand.

Prepared an Antidote.

He read upon the bottle of poison the antidote and prepared one. He went to the hospital with her in the ambulance.

He said he knew no reason why his mother should try to kill herself. He had talked to her Monday.

Berlin and His Bride Seek Her Father's Forgiveness

In Commodious Suite at Atlantic City, Former Ellin Mackay Says She Hopes He Will Pay Them Visit. He Stands on Previous Statement.

Special to The Washington Post.

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Irving Berlin, in the guarded seclusion of the bridal suite of the Ritz-Carlton hotel here today sought to bridge the 52 years that separated the arrival of two immigrant families in America by seeking forgiveness from the representative of the one that arrived first.

John William Mackay arrived at the Battery from Dublin in 1840. Moses Balline, from Russia, bringing along little Isadore, now Irving Berlin, entered the same turnstile to fame in 1892. And since the Mackay fortune dated from 1872 when the Bonanza mines panned out in the West, and the Berlin estate started in 1910 when jazz started to run big, seniority beyond question perched on the side of the family of the bride, to which overtures were made from the seaside resort haven.

Messages to Clarence H. Mackay, father of Mrs. Berlin, and Postal Telegraph and Commercial Cables head, and to Mrs. Joseph A. Blake, her mother, set forth the facts and asked for reconciliation.

With this overture, the honeymoon poked its silvery head above the cloud of opposition and proceeded to shine on just as though there existed nothing that might, in any event, eclipse the radiance. Whatever family action is to be taken may come before Saturday when the Leviathan will find, hanging over the rail as the liner clears the harbor, a young couple who will still be gazing skyward toward the moon of lovers, in the good old-fashioned way.

The song writer and his society bride came at midnight by motor to the Atlantic City hotel. A newsboy on the boardwalk penetrated what was to have been a secret by recognizing Berlin. The suite had been engaged by the then Miss Ellin Mackay on the day before. They did not register. They left orders that they were not to be disturbed. They breakfasted in their rooms. At 2:30 this afternoon, when the couple came down for lunch, they seemed very happy.

"We married purely on the impulse of the moment," they said in chorus. "We are not sorry for what we have done and we have asked forgiveness of Mrs. Berlin's parents and hope to get it."

SAVES 2 BOYS TRAPPED 3 DAYS IN ICE ON REEF

Brother of One, Lashed in Boat, Travels 100 Miles in Cold and Gale.

SAILS BACK WITH BOTH LAUDS CAPITAL POLICE

Elizabeth City, N. C., Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—The heroic rescue by Samuel Stowe, of Hatteras, of his brother and a companion, both mere boys, stranded on Cape Reef three days and two nights, in the coldest weather known in Carolina Sound county in 30 years, was told of here today, for the first time.

Stowe, with disregard for his own safety, ventured forth alone in a small boat eight days ago to find his brother, Roosevelt Stowe, and his companion, Milton Haskett, who left this city the Saturday before for Hatteras, 100 miles away, and had not been heard from.

Faring forth on the coldest day recorded in Carolina Sound county in 30 years, Stowe lashed himself to his boat, so that, if he should freeze, his body would be recovered. A heavy gale was blowing.

When others volunteered to accompany him, Stowe declined their proffers. By chance he located the boys' speedboat stranded on Cape Reef, eight miles from Hatteras.

Semiconscious, after three days and two nights' exposure, the boys hailed him feebly. He assisted them into his own boat, and, with his oarlocks in ice, carried them triumphantly back with him to Hatteras.

Veterans who know the fury of winter gales in the bleak lower sound county, declare the two rescued youths could not possibly have lasted through the night. Roosevelt Stowe's feet were frozen.

ACTION AGAINST WIFE BY DUKE OF LEINSTER

Nature of Suit Not Revealed in Scotch Record—He Is in New York.

Edinburgh, Scotland, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—The rolls of the court of session issued here tonight contain notice of an action by the Duke of Leinster against his wife, Frederick George Newell, of Christchurch, Hampshire, is named as codefender.

The nature of the action is not stated, but the court of session excises the highest civil jurisdiction in Scotland, with the house of lords as a court of appeal.

The Duke of Leinster is now in New York.

The Duke of Leinster arrived in New York, January 3, on the liner Adriatic. He made the trip to attend to some business matters, and expected to return to England, January 16. He married Miss May Etheridge, musical comedy actress, in 1913, despite the protests of his family. He succeeded to the dukedom in 1922.

SHERILL ON "WAGON," ASKS NO DRINK OFFERS

New City Manager at Cincinnati Tells Business Men He Must Enforce Law.

LAUDS CAPITAL POLICE

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 5.—"Please never ask me to take a drink," C. O. Sherrill, new city manager and formerly superintendent of public buildings and grounds at Washington, requested members of the Chamber of Commerce at a forum luncheon today.

Col. Sherrill continued, "When I left Washington I decided to go on the water wagon, for I did not want to arrest others for violating a law and be a law-breaker myself. So don't ask me to have a drink. If you do I might have to arrest you—or, being only human, I might succumb to your temptation and I would hate like poison to fail."

"The council and I are not going to put over a Volstead program, for, after all, this is your city, and you will not obey the laws unless you believe they are just."

"I firmly believe that the morale of the police department is ruined," he declared. "The numerous trials of police officers charged with drunkenness while off duty indicate a lack of morale, of esprit de corps, of training and of all those things that go to make up such a department."

"The public can help eliminate crime by getting behind the police department and by supporting the officers," he said. "Through the force is short 237 men, it still can enforce the law."

"Police have authority and therefore do not need to bluster. They can arrest a man, where necessary, or use their club on him in the time of need, but should not 'bawl out' citizens. They must be polite."

"It was said in Washington that the police force was so polite that the arresting officer would approach an offending woman and say 'Good morning, Mrs. Smith. I'm sorry to inform you that you're going to jail for failure to pay a fine of $10.'"

Mrs. Roosevelt Calls On Mrs. Coolidge

For the first time since March, 1909, when she retired as its mistress, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the former President, yesterday visited the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt chatted with Mrs. Coolidge and inspected many of the rooms. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, wife of the Speaker of the House.

SEPARATE PENSION BODY FOR MOTHERS GAINS ASCENDANCY

District Spokesmen Are Surprised by Plan of New York Group.

3 LEADERS DISCLOSE AGREEMENT ON BILL

Mrs. G. S. Grosvenor Argues for Unified Control of Charities Here.

A strong New York social lobby rode roughshod over the views of District spokesmen at the House subcommittee hearing on proposed District mothers' pensions legislation yesterday. At the end of the meeting a so-called compromise plan, providing that the pensions fund would be administered by a separate agency, had the upper hand with the indications that it will be adopted by the subcommittee at its meeting tomorrow.

Headed by Miss Sophie Irene Loeb, the New York delegation disavowed any intention of dictating to Washingtonians, but made known that the separate agency plan "must" be accepted.

Washington spokesmen were apparently taken off their feet with the explanation at the outset of the meeting that Representative Keller, chairman of the subcommittee; Representative Mills, of Arkansas, author of a bill embodying the separate agency plan, and Miss Loeb had met Monday night and agreed upon a "compromise" bill.

Keller Explains Change.

Mr. Keller, who introduced the bill providing that the fund be administered by the proposed board of public welfare, said he had really changed his mind before the Monday night meeting. He had come to the conclusion, he said, that such important work as that attendant upon mothers' pensions should be carried on by a separate board with no other cares.

Mrs. Gilbert S. Grosvenor, chairman of the joint committee of local social, civic and welfare agencies, sought to stem the separate agency tide, but with little success. Mrs. Grosvenor told of the years of effort here to stimulate support for the plan of coordinating all charitable agencies and now that the public viewpoint has been brought around to the support of the welfare bill, another separate agency is contemplated.

But Miss Loeb, who was described by first one spokesman and another as the most experienced social worker in the country, had a ready retort to any suggestion against the separate agency.

Miss Loeb's Retort.

"Would you care to put your mothers' pensions in the same category as the treatment of delinquents, recalcitrants and criminals?"

Mrs. Grosvenor told of the meeting at her home at which the various local organizations concerned had endorsed Mr. Keller's bill as having the District commissioners in preference to the separate agency plan.

Mrs. L. B. Swormstedt, vice president of the Social Welfare commission.

Legacy of $4,000,000 Given Schoolgirl, 14

San Francisco, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—A 14-year-old school girl in far-off Nuthill, which is in Surrey, England, came into a legacy of more than $4,000,000 today through the termination of a trust fund in the estate of Claus Spreckels, pioneer San Francisco sugar king and financial power. The fund was terminated by action of the superior court here upon motion of the trustees.

The girl is Jean Ferris, daughter of Mrs. Emma C. Ferris, deceased daughter of the sugar magnate. The trust fund, created twelve years ago in the name of Mrs. Ferris, includes some of the finest business property in San Francisco.

Four Ships in Peril, Held by Drifting Ice

Helsingfors, Finland, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Four German merchant ships, imprisoned in the ice in the Gulf of Finland, are in a perilous position, drifting helplessly toward Bjorkoe, on the Finnish coast. The Estonian authorities have offered the use of an ice breaker for the rescue, if the soviet government consents to its operation in Russian territorial waters.

NORFOLK STEAMER IS GROUND IN FOG; 125 TAKEN ASHORE

Dense Banks of Moisture Imperil Walkers and Motorists Here.

BALMY WIND BLAMED BY WEATHER BUREAU

Auto Plunges Over Sidewalk in Southeast; Coastwise Shipping Tied Up.

Washington will emerge today from one of the worst fogs in its history, a fog which caused a large steamer to run aground, slowed down motor traffic, tied up river transportation, and otherwise inconvenienced the city.

The outstanding accident of the day befell the steamer "District of Columbia," of the Norfolk and Washington line, which lost its way in the fog and went aground off Quantico, Va. Its 125 passengers were taken ashore by a tug boat.

The steamer was still aground at a late hour, and two tugs were standing by to pull her off at high tide this morning. It was hoped that the vessel would float off at high tide last night, but this did not happen.

An automobile, whose driver is believed to have been baffled by the fog, plunged over the sidewalk at Eleventh street and Virginia avenue southeast, yesterday morning and tore away a section of the fence which girdles the public playground there.

Chesapeake bay was shrouded in fog, according to word received here, and a number of large ships were delayed. Several ships were anchored in Chesapeake bay waiting for the mists to lift before docking.

Warm Winds Responsible.

Warm winds coming in contact with the cold ground precipitated the fog, Forecaster Weightman explained last night. Freezing weather, which is about normal for this time of the year, will arrive today, he said, and the fog will disappear.

Old inhabitants were heard to say yesterday that the fog was the densest they had ever seen, but Forecaster Weightman could not concur in this. The fog, he said, while unusually heavy, was by no means "phenomenal."

Automobile speeders apparently were awed by the fog yesterday and last night, as only five arrests for this offense were recorded. Usually there are twenty or more.

Buses Behind Schedule.

Buses running from Washington to distant points were seriously delayed by the fog. The drivers explained that they were afraid to run at their usual speed.

The District of Columbia was due to dock here at 7 o'clock yesterday morning and was 6½ hours behind schedule when she foundered on a mud bank off Quantico.

The United States marine base was only a short distance away, and a call for assistance, shouted through a megaphone by Capt. Geoghegan, soon brought a marine tug to the scene. The passengers were all safely landed by 3:30 o'clock.

Brought Here by Train.

The passengers were put on a special train in Quantico and brought to this city. The crew remained on the steamer.

The Northland, the other steamer operated by the Norfolk & Washington line, left Norfolk for this city at 5:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and was reported as making slow but safe progress.

The fog was thickest yesterday in the vicinity of Potomac park. The Lincoln memorial was invisible to a person more than 50 feet away.

W. A. Brady, Jr., Weds Katherine Alexander

New York, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—William A. Brady, Jr., son of the theatrical producer and a manager of several Broadway dramatic successes, today married Miss Katherine Alexander, one of the most successful of the younger actresses. The marriage, in the rectory of St. Patrick's cathedral, was a surprise to their friends.

The couple will continue in their chosen profession. Miss Alexander last appeared in Schnitzler's "Call of Life" and earned the praise of critics in "It All Depends," "Ostriches," "The Youngest" and "That Awful Mrs. Eaton."

SENATE AGAIN CONFIRMS MISS DELL'S NOMINATION

Votes Favorably for Civil Service Commissioner After Hearing Protests.

LETTERS READ BY KING

The nomination of Miss Jessie Dell as a member of the civil service commission was again confirmed by the Senate late yesterday.

Meeting in closed session, the Senate heard letters of protest read by Senator King, of Utah, who had had the Senate reconsider its previous action in confirming Miss Dell. But at the end the Senate again voted favorably for her.

Although the Senate considered her appointment nearly an hour, the reading of the letters of protest is understood to have largely taken up the time. Senator King, although voting against her, is understood not to have carried his opposition further than submitting the protests.

Miss Dell, a native of Georgia, but long a resident here, was appointed to succeed Mrs. Helen H. Gardner upon the latter's death. Strong opposition developed from Democratic women's organizations on the ground that she was not a representative Democratic appointee.

Democratic senators generally were inclined to look upon her appointment more as a Republican choice than a Democratic preference, in that Senator Smoot, of Utah, and Director General Lord, of the budget, sponsored her. The fact, however, that she had the support of the two Georgia senators made the opposition among Democrats but lukewarm.

Officer Slays Man At Lieutenant's Desk

New York, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—In front of the lieutenant's desk in a Brooklyn police station today, Policeman John J. Brennan whipped out his service revolver and shot Samuel Kraniof, a glazier, who had gone to the station to complain against Brennan. Kraniof died at a hospital.

The policeman was arrested and a physician reported him as intoxicated. Brennan went into the glazier's store at noon today and demanded $2. Refused it, he hit the glazier on the head with his police stick. It was of this that Kraniof had gone to the station house to complain when he was shot.

WOMAN IN FURNACE AS LIVING SACRIFICE

Sings and Prays as Flames Consume Flesh; Dies of Burns Hours Later.

Shelbyville, Ind., Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Mrs. Margaret House died this afternoon from injuries and burns received when she climbed into a furnace at her home early today in an effort to end her life.

Arising early she told her husband, a city mail carrier, that she was going to the basement to fix the fire. When she failed to return Mr. House found her in the furnace to her waistline. Mr. House said his wife had been in ill health.

Neighbors of Mrs. House said that she had manifested an almost frenzied interest in a recent inter-denominational religious revival and had threatened to offer herself as "a living sacrifice to the Lord."

Mr. House said that his attention to his wife's prolonged absence in the basement was first attracted by hearing her singing and praying. When he found her body jammed into the furnace she was continuing her prayers and spiritual exhortations, he said, despite her burns.

ALUMINUM COMPANY SUBJECTED TO TWIN ATTACK IN CONGRESS

Walsh, in Senate, and Oldfield, in House, Ask Investigations.

IMMEDIATE ACTION IS HALTED BY REED

Mellon Firm Called Monopoly; Explanation Sought on Lack of Prosecution.

(By The Associated Press.)

A double-barreled attack on the Aluminum Co. of America, in which Secretary Mellon is a large stockholder, was launched yesterday in Congress.

The assault in the Senate was directed primarily at the failure of the Attorney General to bring contempt proceedings against the company for alleged violations of Federal court decrees and the action of the Federal Trade Commission in withholding important evidence from the Department of Justice.

House Attack Broader.

In the House, the attack covered a broader range. Representative Oldfield (Democrat), Arkansas, proposing a general investigation with a special view to ascertaining whether the Aluminum Co. is a monopoly and if so whether tariffs on crude and partially finished aluminum have contributed to the creation of such a monopoly.

The Senate resolutions—two in number—were offered by Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, who asked immediate consideration for them. On objection of Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, they went over until today.

The Oldfield resolution was referred to the House ways and means committee, which under its terms would conduct the broad inquiry the chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee seeks to have made.

Asks About Expedition.

The first of the Walsh resolutions would direct the Senate judiciary committee to inquire whether "due expedition has been observed by the Department of Justice in the prosecution of the inquiry so initiated on the direction of former Attorney General Stone, or which he reported would be initiated."

The second would direct Attorney General Sargent to advise the Senate whether the refusal of the trade commission to turn over evidence obtained from the Aluminum Co. of America was well founded in law, and if not, what steps had been taken by the department to obtain this evidence.

In presenting the resolutions, Senator Walsh called attention that on October 8, 1924, the trade commission reported to the Justice Department that "the Aluminum Co. of America had been guilty of practices violative of the decree of the court in 1912 in continuing the practices enjoined by that decree."

On January 30, 1925, Senator Walsh continued, the then Attorney General Stone promulgated a letter to the trade commission in which he said:

"It is apparent that during the time covered by your report the Aluminum Co. of America violated several provisions of the decree; that with respect to some of the practices complained of, they were so frequent and long continued, a fair inference is the company either was indifferent to the provisions of the decree or knowingly intended that its provisions should be disregarded with a view to suppressing competition in the aluminum industry."

Extended Only to 1922.

Since the commission's investigation extended down only to 1922 and the statute of limitation in

CONFUSION, COMEDY ATTEND BEGINNINGS OF TRAFFIC SIGNALS

SMOOTHER OPERATION, HOWEVER, IS EXPECTED

Drivers, It Is Held, Soon Will Understand New Order; Mule Flouts Policeman.

The major segment of Washington's synchronized automatic electric light traffic signals in Sixteenth street northwest, from H to U streets, was placed in operation yesterday at 2 o'clock, after many postponements.

Confusion, comedy and lack of ceremony characterized the occasion. President Cuno H. Rudolph, of the District board of commissioners, under fire from a battery of cameras and moving picture machines, connected the lights with electric current at a switchbox in Scott circle.

Motorists and pedestrians, suddenly confronted with the lights, found themselves unprepared with information as to what to do. Traffic tieups occurred at many intersections, left turns affording the most fruitful source of uncertainty. K. W. Mackall, engineer, and F. W. Clary, publicity manager for the Crouse-Hinds Co., of Syracuse, N. Y., the concern that sold the District the lights, expressed themselves as gratified and said that the confusion would be only temporary, until drivers were accustomed to the signals.

Mule Flouts Policeman.

A practical joker utilized the situation to turn a horse-laugh on Traffic Director M. O. Eldridge's regulation forbidding horse-drawn vehicles to travel in Sixteenth street and three other boulevards. Ensnared in an ancient cabriolet drawn by an equally ancient mule, the jester, who later gave his name as William K. Conway, drove up to Scott circle, while 100 or more persons of prominence were witnessing the proceedings. A policeman stopped the coupe.

"Don't you know that horse-drawn vehicles are forbidden on this street?" he demanded, and added, with official scorn, "Read the sign."

The passenger leaned out and said: "Officer, I read the sign. This is not a horse-drawn vehicle. It is mule drawn. Drive on, James."

The policeman scratched his head and let the vehicle proceed. Later a police conference was called on this flouting of the law. Assistant Corporation Counsel Ringgold Hart was consulted.

What the Courts Hold.

"The courts have held," said he, "that mule-drawn and horse-drawn are the same thing." Despite this ruling, however, the mule-drawn equipage drove up and down Sixteenth street for some time unmolested by the policeman. All the District commissioners, Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, Chief Engineer George S. Watson, of the fire department; Rudolph W. Clary, Traffic Director Eldridge, and his assistant, I. C. Moller, and Representative Frank H. Funk, of Illinois, were among the participants in the turning on of the lights. There were no speeches, music or decorations. Cooperation of the public with traffic regulations was requested by Traffic Director Eldridge in his address, "Stop, Look, Listen," at the Wapiti club luncheon at University club yesterday.

No violations of the new traffic signals on Sixteenth street were taken to traffic court last night.

LONE MULE DEFIES NEW TRAFFIC RULES

The mule-drawn cabriolet which yesterday set Sixteenth street and the policemen guarding traffic agog. The regulations forbid the use of the street by horse-drawn vehicles. Policemen attempted to arrest the driver but he quoted M. O. Eldridge's own regulations which said nothing about mule-drawn vehicles and the parade up and down Sixteenth street continued without interference.

cessfully solve Washington's traffic problems, by Director of Traffic M. O. Eldridge at a meeting last night of the Columbia Heights Citizens association in St. Stephen's parish hall.

Drunk drivers and insane patients at St. Elizabeths hospital should have their permits revoked immediately, Mr. Eldridge declared, but under the present law it is impossible for the director of traffic to revoke their permits until after conviction in the courts.

During a discussion of the proposed ban on all-night parking, sentiment showed that the association was opposed to the measure. Mr. Eldridge urged the members of the association to become familiar immediately with the rules regarding the new automatic light system on Sixteenth street. "If these lights had been in operation a month ago," Mr. Eldridge stated, "one less automobile fatality would have occurred."

Mr. Eldridge predicted dire results for the motorist, who, in the future, falls to give the pedestrian the right of way at crosswalks. However, Mr. Eldridge stated, that pedestrians would "take their lives in their own hands" in crossing Sixteenth street when the lights are against them.

Recent inquiries by the coroner's jury in traffic fatalities have always resulted in the same old verdict of "accidental death," Mr. Eldridge declared. He deplored the increasing tendency on the part of Washington motorists in failing to give the pedestrian the right-of-way at cross walks.

Man Held on Charge Of Stealing Checks

Donald C. McGill, 39 years old, 2810 Cathedral avenue northwest, was arrested yesterday by Detectives John Flaherty and John Fowler, and released in $500 bail on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. William L. Saenger, 129 Sixteenth street northeast, is the complainant.

McGill, who is a railroad investigator, is alleged to have taken checks payable to others, totaling $87, and to have cashed them.

Referees Are Needed At Friendship House

A call for volunteers who will be willing to give an hour and a half of their time each week to acting as referee at boys' indoor games is being sent out by Miss Lydia Burkin, head resident of Friendship House, 326 Virginia avenue southeast.

Miss Burkin declares the house has no one on Tuesdays and Wednesdays to superintend the games, and as a result the boys who play on those nights are handicapped.

President Urges Safety, Expedition, for Traffic

There are two outstanding requisites in traffic control, in the view of President Coolidge, not alone in Washington but in all cities. These are, first, safety, and second, expedition.

In the view of the executive these must be sought after especially in this city. The President, however, is understood to have no personal views on how the new traffic laws and regulations are working out here in Washington because, when he goes out, he is accompanied by officers who see that his progress is expedited and that he is never endangered by vehicles.

While the President is understood to be watching the progress of the various experiments now being tried out here, he has taken no position, one way or the other, according to officials at the White House, on whether changes in existing law are necessary or advisable.

MAN SHOTS HIMSELF AFTER ROW WITH WIFE

Quarrel Starts When Mother Smacks Infant Son for Seizing Food.

William Owen Moore, 22 years old, committed suicide in the second floor bedroom of his home, 408 Kentucky avenue southeast, last night by shooting himself in the head.

His suicide, according to a story told the police by his 20-year-old wife, Mrs. Thelma Moore, and his nephew, Hyman Brown, followed a quarrel with his wife. The quarrel was precipitated, Mrs. Moore said to have told police, when she smacked the hands of their 17-month-old son for grabbing food on the dinner table.

Her husband struck her and she fainted. When she was revived he left the room remorseful. She sat talking to his nephew while preparing the baby for bed and then started upstairs to put the child to bed. As they approached the bedroom door Moore called that they should not enter and slammed the door, and shot himself. Coroner Nevitt issued a certificate of suicide.

Red Star Bus Company Buys Leon Arnold Line

Leon Arnold, former president of the Washington Rapid Transit Co., yesterday announced he had disposed of the last of his motor-bus properties by selling the Washington Motor Coach Co. to the Red Star line.

The concern sold operates buses to Baltimore, Annapolis and Atlantic City. The Red Star line, in addition to sightseeing buses, operates a line from Washington to Philadelphia.

5-Year-Old Girl Hit By Auto; Slightly Hurt

While crossing Eighteenth street, near Lawrence street northeast, yesterday, Jeanette Plowman, 5 years old, of 1704 Kearny street northeast, was struck by an automobile driven, police say, by George Stewart, of 653 Sixteenth street northeast.

She was taken to her home by Stewart and treated by a nearby physician for slight injuries.

Backing From Garage, Auto Strikes Walker

John Waddell, 40 years old, of 1257 Everts street northeast, was struck yesterday by an automobile driven by William Moore, of 2635 Twelfth street northeast.

According to police, Moore was backing his car out of a garage at his home when he struck Waddell, who was walking on the sidewalk.

TWO YOUTHS IN AUTO TRY TO ABDUCT GIRL

Police of District, Maryland and Virginia in Search for Pair.

Search by police of this city, nearby Maryland and Virginia, was instituted last night for two nearly dressed young men, who attempted to abduct Miss Irene Grichback, 22 years old, 216 Second street southeast, Monday night.

The attempted abduction was not revealed to police until last night, as Miss Grichback has been confined to her home since the incident. She was walking home from work, she told police, when she passed an automobile at Second and A streets, and was accosted by one of the young men, occupants of the car.

She repulsed his advances, police were told, and he grabbed her and attempted to drag her to the machine, in which sat the other man. She screamed and fought off her assailant as best she could, until W. S. Schober, 9 Fourth street southeast, attracted by her cries, ran to her aid. The car was driven off when Schober came into sight.

Caraway Would Ban Intermarriage Here

Intermarriage of white persons and negroes would constitute a felony in the District under the terms of a measure introduced by Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, in the Senate yesterday. Those intermarried now living here would be allowed to remain, but once they left the District they could not return, while no intermarried persons would be allowed to come here, according to the bill.

Another measure by Senator Caraway would provide that 30 days' application be made of the District commissioners before a hotel could raise its rates. The rates would have to be posted in every room. Members of Congress would be immune to any suits filed in the District, while attending Congress. This measure would not restrain suits filed by local residents.

Policeman Kills Dog After 3 Are Bitten

Policeman E. M. Taylor, of the Ninth precinct, yesterday shot and killed a dog owned by Jeremiah Mattice, 238 G street northeast. The dog was alleged to have bitten three persons in as many days.

Sen-year-old Francis Healey, 315 H street northeast, was his first victim. He was bitten Sunday, while playing near his home. Frank Brizzi, 10 years old, 610 Fifth street northeast, and Antonio Male, 238 G street northeast, were the other victims.

FENNING LAUDS CAPITAL AT NEW HAMLINE CHURCH

Commissioner, Quoting Bible, Says It Has "Foundations" That Are Wonderful.

PRaises Religious Spirit

Commissioner Fenning based his speech at new Hamline Methodist church last night on a Bible text. "For He looked for His city which hath foundations," words of Hebrews, was the text. The occasion was the third night's service of the church's dedication week.

Applying the text to the city of Washington, the commissioner said it had physical foundations that were wonderful; mental ones, well laid; legal ones, resting foursquare on the laws of the land, and strong religious foundations in its churches.

"There are those who say they have no interest in the church; that do not go to church," said Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of George Washington university, another speaker, "but they do not realize that the church goes to them. There may be thousands who never enter the doors of this building, yet they cannot pass this beautiful church without some benefit." The neighborhood is proud of it," said President B. Henderson, Piney Branch Citizens association, which often held meetings in the former Hamline church. Maj. Edwin B. Hesse and Chief Engineer George S. Watson were unable to be present to speak. The meeting was termed City and Community Night, and Harry C. James, church trustee, and chairman of the building committee, presided.

Fenning Discusses Problems of Office

"A Day at the Office" was the subject of a talk by District Commissioner Frederick A. Fenning, speaking at the general assembly of the Piney Branch Citizens association, at the High School, Seventh and C streets southeast, yesterday afternoon.

He dealt with some of the daily problems that confront a city head in performing his daily duties at the District building. He was introduced by his niece, Miss Ramsey Nevitt, a teacher at the school. H. B. Warner, principal, presided over the meeting. Music was furnished by the school orchestra and Miss Katherine Palmer, a student, sang. Patriotic and school songs were also sung by the student body.

VIRGINIA 1925 AUTO TAGS GOOD TO FEB. 1

Maryland and Pennsylvania Drivers, However, Must Have '26 Licenses Here.

Virginia motorists will be given all this month to drive on Washington streets with the 1925 license tags, according to an order issued yesterday. District, Maryland and Pennsylvania drivers will be arrested if their cars do not bear 1926 tags. There are about 8,500 residents of Washington who have failed to provide themselves with up-to-date licenses, it is estimated.

The police order went out to arrest all drivers with outdated tags. Yesterday James M. Hayes, Jr., motor vehicle commissioner of Virginia, communicated with Assistant Traffic Director I. C. Moller and said the order was issued.

He asked to have the 1925 tags honored in the District until that time. His request was relayed to Maj. and Supt. of Police, Edwin B. Hesse, who then instructed his men to let Virginians drive on old tags.

CHARGES "WIFE" IS FRAUD.

Man Says He Must Pay Alimony to One He Never Married.

William Kesterson petitioned the equity court yesterday to vacate an order requiring him to pay $35 a month alimony to a woman he says he never married. The woman is Mrs. Myrtle Kesterson, but Kesterson says her name is Myrtle Baker. She sued for maintenance on February 15. He says that she was the lawful wife of John K. Baker for at least six months after the "pretended ceremony" in which he figured. To require him to continue paying alimony, Kesterson says, is unjust as he never will be able to get any of the money back. Attorney Randall Mackey appeared for Kesterson.

BORDERS OF ROCK CREEK PARK URGED AS STREETS

Would Aid Development of City There, Planning Committee Holds.

BANS BELMONT TUNNEL

Seeking to push the development of the capital near Rock Creek park, the District planning committee yesterday recommended that certain borderlands on both sides of the park now held by the office of public buildings and public parks be turned over to the District commissioners for street purposes.

The planning committee feels that for development purposes a considerable strip of land extending along the parkway from Massachusetts avenue to Belmont road on the north side and a strip extending southward from Massachusetts avenue, about 1,000 feet on the south side, be turned over. The District commissioners would then cut through streets and assist the development of the area immediately adjoining the park.

Plats of changes in the highway plan about Fort Stevens, Cathedral Close, Foxhall road and Nebraska avenue, which the committee adopted some weeks ago, were viewed at the meeting and will be turned over to the District commissioners for their guidance.

The plan of cutting through Montana avenue from the Soldiers Home southward to Bladensburg road as a main artery of the northeast section was considered, but action deferred.

The committee did not agree with the proposal of the Kalamazoo Citizens association to cut Belmont road through as a tunnel under the Connecticut avenue bridge. The road is immediately at the eastern approach of the bridge and it was felt by the citizens' association that such a step was needed to prevent serious traffic difficulties.

Law for Teachers' Pensions Amended

Representatives of public-school teachers, school executives and members of the board of education yesterday completed a draft of the amendment to the teachers' pension law to provide larger annuities.

The measure, as completed at the meeting held in the office of Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, is substantially the same as made public some time ago. The question of further increases will be pushed later, it was said. The measure will be submitted to the full board of education at its meeting in the Franklin school this afternoon.

SCHOOL BIDS ARE OPENED.

Low Price on Francis Junior High Building is $409,700.

Bids were opened yesterday on erection of the proposed John R. Francis Junior High school at Twenty-fourth and N streets northwest.

The low price was quoted by Charles H. Tompkins, Inc., at $409,700. Congress authorized not to exceed $475,000 for the work.

WOPES FOR ENDING COAL STRIKE TURN TO OFFICIALS HERE

Break-Up of Present Meeting
Would End Pinchot's
Efforts, Is View.

CONCESSIONS REFUSED BY OPPOSING FACTIONS

Some Progress Reported as Session Is Adjourned
Until This Morning.

New York, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—"Still deadlocked" aptly described the situation in the negotiations between anthracite miners and operators who are attempting to end the hard coal strike now in its fifth month.

Shortly before 7 o'clock tonight, after a session of nearly five hours, announcement was made that the joint conference of six miners and six operators had adjourned until 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

With this announcement came the following message from the conference room:

"The conference met this afternoon and continued consideration of the possibility of reaching an agreement. The discussion was along the lines of previous sessions.

Progress Is Reported.

No amplification of this statement could be had from either side, as both operators and miners remained in seclusion at the Union League club, where the meetings are being held, as the guests at a dinner of Alvin Markle, of Hazleton, Pa., chairman of the joint conference.

The only other word that drifted out of the meeting was that "progress was being made."

Whether this progress was a material step forward in the way of laying the basis for work for an agreement or merely clarifying the views of one side or the other could not be learned. Most observers took the adjournment to tomorrow as an indication that nothing definite had been agreed upon.

The conference, under the leadership of W. W. Inglis, for the operators, and President John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, was resumed at 2 p. m. after a recess taken New Year's eve.

No Concessions by Either.

Before entering the meeting each side expressed itself in the strongest terms that no concessions had been decided upon and that there was no change in their attitude on the fundamentals at issue. The operators resumed negotiations, encouraged and stiffened by the action of the anthracite operators' conference at a meeting in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in the forenoon, at which it was announced, a resolution had been unanimously adopted approving all that the mine owners' representatives had done in their conference with the union leaders last week.

If a break comes, observers will look to Washington to make an effort to bring an end to the long stretch of idleness. The present negotiations are the result of Gov. Pinchot's efforts to bring about an agreement, and a break up of the conference would mean the end for the present, at least, of the Pennsylvania governor's endeavors to have mining resumed.

It is not unlikely that if the negotiations continue into next week or are broken off that Mr. Pinchot may have something new to put forward in his message to the special session of the legislature, which meets January 13.

Seranton, Pa., Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—While anthracite miners and operators were conferring in New York today in an effort to arrange a new contract, 500 hungry children of the strikers were being fed bread and soup in the city schools, under the auspices of the junior branch of the American Red Cross. It was said the children would be fed daily until the strike is settled.

Nonunion Miners Induced To Quit Work in Indiana

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Union miners of the entire district south of Becknell, tonight persuaded nonunion workers to walk out of the mines at Newburgh, in Warrick county, near here, and held a mass meeting to affiliate the nonunion workers with the union.

Indianapolis, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Though no action has yet been taken to send troops of the Indiana national guard to maintain order in the southern Indiana coal field where union men are attempting to effect shutdown of mines worked by nonunion men, preparations are being made to move troops at an hour's notice if the situation becomes suddenly acute. This was the statement tonight of Adjutant General William H. Kershaw, commander of the State guard.

Merced Suffers Heart Attack.

Brussels, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Cardinal Mercier, who underwent a surgical operation recently, suffered a slight attack of heart failure this afternoon. He soon rallied. Unless there are further complications, it is expected the cardinal will leave his bed tomorrow.

HUNGARIAN PRINCE CONFESSES TO VAST BOGUS MONEY PLOT

Windisch-Graetz Implicates
Many of the Leading Men of Nation in Story.

WAR MINISTER LIKELY TO BE PUT IN PRISON

Baron S. Perenyi and Count
Szirmecsi Already Held in Budapest Jail.

Budapest, Hungary, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Prince Ludwig Windisch-Graetz has made a full confession of the vast counterfeiting plot, involving 20,000,000 French 1,000 franc notes, the police assert, implicating a number of the most prominent persons of Hungary. In consequence of this confession the state attorney ordered a large force of detectives to arrest all those indicated by Windisch-Graetz.

Police President Nadassy, who is on "unlimited leave of absence" is reported to have already been arrested, and the arrest of the war minister, Count Charles de Czaky, is said to be imminent.

Two other members of the Hungarian nobility and former statesmen, Count Szirmecsi and Baron Sigmund Perenyi—are behind prison bars through disclosures relating to the counterfeiting case.

On Trail of Others.

The French investigators now are being seconded heartily by the Hungarian police who want all implicated with either the end of the week.

Several persons of minor importance, implicated in some way in the huge criminal scheme have been arrested. They include an army captain, a member of the clergy and various workmen. The detectives now are concentrating their efforts on what became of the spurious notes known to have been printed.

Prince Windisch-Graetz occupies the very cell in the prison from which he emerged 10 minutes previously, the former minister of the interior, Edmund Benicsky, imprisoned because he had accused Admiral Horty, the regent, of ordering the murder of two newspaper men.

It is the best cell in the building, the head jailer told Princess Windisch-Graetz, who accompanied her husband to prison and remained with him until he was locked up.

Seek Fascist Leader.

Another development was the departure for Italy of one of the French detectives who have been working here to arrest the Hungarian fascist leader, Ujain, who is said to have fled over the border.

The printing works of the Royal Geographic society where the forged notes are believed to have been engraved, was the center of an intensive search by the authorities for a draftsman, photographer and printer who are alleged to have hidden or destroyed the plates.

A priest, Father Bonis, an army captain, Budapest, were taken to the police station to make depositions. A little later a man named Winkler, who is alleged to have made a false bottom trunk for Mersky, who is held under charge of forgery, was arrested, as was a shoemaker who manufactured hollow-soled boots for Col. Jankovich, one of the alleged conspirators.

GEORGE GRAHAM RICE HELD IN FRAUD CASE

Promoter Lays Plight to Breaking Rule Against "Educating Sucker."

New York, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—George Graham Rice, editor of the Wall Street Journal, whose alleged "blue sky" stock exploits have ranged from coast to coast, was indicted today by a Federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to defraud. He was released in $7,500 bail.

Rice is accused of having misused the mails in connection with the sale of securities of the Fortuna Consolidated Gold Mine Co. Named with him in the indictment were John Hogan, Lewis W. Alexander and Moe Herman, David Lyons and Howard Hinder.

In a statement after the indictment, Rice charged that Wall Street was trying to "silence him" because his paper had analyzed margin transactions and "violated the unwritten law of Wall Street never to educate a sucker."

Rice, whose real name is Simon Jacob Herzog, has had a spectacular career as a race track tipster, promoter and stock broker. In 1920 he was sentenced to three years in Sing Sing for grand larceny, growing out of a stock transaction.

Mrs. Tinney Given Judgment of $10,800

New York, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Mrs. Edna Tinney, wife of Frank Tinney, blackface comedian, was awarded a judgment of $10,800 against her husband in Brooklyn supreme court today. The sum represents fees and back alimony which Tinney had failed to pay since June 24, when his wife obtained an order for $200 a week and $5,000 counsel fees.

BEATING OF PRIEST TO DRIVE OUT SPIRIT IS LAID TO WOMAN

Head of Cult in France, With Followers, Scourges Abbe
With Cords.

SMACKS OF DARK AGES; PROSECUTOR PUZZLED

All of Those Accused, Including Women, Members of the Upper Middle Class.

Bombon, Department of Seine-et-Marne, France, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Marie Mesmin, a janitress of Bombon, who in 1904 founded the fanatical "Order of Our Lady of Tears" has been judicially summoned to appear before the local authorities who are investigating a mysterious attack on Abbe des Noyers, the parish priest at Bombon.

The attack on Father des Noyers, who was scourged with cords by members of the fanatical order, was charged with beating the priest's sacred stripes and gagging him and proceeded to scourge him.

Bombon, a village near Melun, was the seat of Marshal Foch's headquarters at one time during the war. To this town, intent on expelling "from the body of Father des Noyers the spirit of evil which possessed it," came a dozen persons from Bordeaux, some of them aged women.

They invaded the priest's sacred stripes and gagged him and proceeded to scourge him. The priest was left in such a serious condition that doctors say he will be unable to resume his ministry for at least a month.

Two Men in Custody.

The prosecutor's first impulse on hearing the story told by the members of the "Order of Our Lady of Tears" was to pack all concerned off to a mad house, but he ended by releasing ten women and keeping in custody Albert Froger, a book keeper, and Maurice Lourdun, son of a wealthy farmer, who had "become a street sweeper to mortify his pride."

It is alleged that Father des Noyers himself was a member of the sect and that many sick persons came to him to have evil spirits exorcised in accordance with medieval procedure.

It is believed that Marie Mesmin will be charged with being the instigator of the attack, since all the participants were her followers and referred to her as "our saint." Today she claimed that Father des Noyers was casting a spell over her.

Instigated Previous Attack.

Father des Noyers said that he met the mysterious Mesmin woman during a pilgrimage. He related that after she had instigated an attack similar to that which he suffered upon a Syrian archimandrite named Sabouli several years ago for the same reasons, he was called upon by the authorities of the diocese to attend to her case. "I did not find her possessed of a demon, but rather sick," Father des Noyers said, "so instead of using exorcism I treated her with cupping glasses. She seemed better after that visit and thanked me, but thereafter she pretended that instead of relieving her I cast spells upon her."

The priest added that the Mesmin woman had denounced him and declared she would take justice into her own hands and that when twelve strangers entered the church prior to the attack his old housekeeper had a premonition and told him "they are people of Bordeaux."

The prosecutor has been struck by the fact that the priest's parishioners did not intervene, although they knew he was closeted with strangers who already have threatened him. He was also surprised to find that the aggressors all belonged to the upper middle class.

The ten women who were released on their own recognizance were either of independent means or young students. All were convinced that the "health of our saint depended" on the carrying out of their mission. "She is in his grasp," they assert. "He is not a priest, he is a demon."

Die of Cholera in Philippine Town.

Manila, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Cholera has broken out on the island of Mindoro. Nine deaths and twelve new cases have been reported to the health service in the last 24 hours in the municipality of Pinalanayan. Doctors with anti-cholera serum have been dispatched from Manila.

Expedition to Arabia Seeks Desert Horses

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—The Enquirer and News in a copyrighted article today tells of the plans of W. K. Kellogg, breakfast food manufacturer, to finance an expedition into Arabia, the first in 21 years, to import pure blood horses of Arabian strain from the desert.

Carl Schmidt, in charge of Kellogg's Arabian-horse stable near Pomona, Calif., will lead the expedition, which will start at once. Mr. Kellogg will take up with the government arrangements for Mr. Schmidt's safe conduct and attempt to gain assurance that from nine to fifteen horses may be shipped.

Mr. Kellogg will attempt to reproduce Arab horses in native strains and will offer surplus to the government for the army remount service.

PERU OPPOSES DIRECT PARLEY ON TACNA-ARICA

Government Organ Repudiates Proposal That Diplomacy
Replace U. S. Award.

INSISTS DECISION STAND

Lima, Peru, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Prensa, government paper, comes out strongly today against suggestions that direct negotiations between Chile and Peru be substituted for President Coolidge's arbitral award in settling the sovereignty of Tacna and Arica. Declaring the suggestions smack of Chilean propaganda, the paper continues, in part:

"Our country has accepted the decision of President Coolidge and is proceeding with absolute good faith. * * * To bring the Tacna-Arica question back to the diplomatic field and direct negotiations would not solve the problem nor assure peace on the continent."

"We are then, with the arbiters and his delegate, Gen. Pershing, and we adhere in letter and spirit to the decision. We wish an honest plebiscite, an authentic expression of the will of the Tacnians and Aricans, and we shall not listen to proposals that tend to deviate us from that road, at the end of which is the revindication of our unredeemed provinces. Let this be known, once for all."

BROADWAY ROMANCE LASTED ONLY A DAY

Show Girl Receives Alimony
From Composer Who Wed
Her After a Party.

New York, January 5 (By A. P.).—A broken Broadway jazz romance, in which Henry Busse, assistant director of Paul Whiteman's orchestra and composer of "Hot Lips" and other popular pieces, and a show girl figured, was disclosed today when Mrs. Eleanor Lyman Busse, was awarded $200 a month alimony and $350 counsel fees by Supreme Court Justice Proskauer, pending the outcome of her suit for separation.

A whirlwind courtship, according to Mrs. Busse, led to their marriage the morning after a party in a Broadway night club, last August 18. They lived together only one day, after which, she alleges, Mr. Busse refused to live with her. She said her husband told her income for 1924 was $84,000.

Mr. Busse's attorney indicated that his defense will be that he was intoxicated when married.

The diploma was inclosed in a handsomely designed casket of shagreen and silver.

Mexican Indians Slay American Ranchman

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Presumably slain by predatory Indian ranchers, George Delkins, prominent New Mexico ranchman and member of the War Finance Corporation, was found shot to death in an isolated canyon in Mexico, 50 miles south of Columbus, N. Mex., officers of that city reported yesterday. The story was confirmed by W. S. McCullough, of Columbus, who arrived here last night without further details of the killing.

Delkins was in Mexico looking after cattle in which the War Finance Corporation is interested. McCullough said, and had been there only two or three days.

COMMITTEE AWAITS FACTS FROM HOOVER ON RUBBER GOUGING

Secretary Will Be First Witness at House Hearing Beginning Tomorrow.

AMERICA HELD UNDER TRIBUTE TO BRITISH

Firestone, Ford and Litchfield Expected as Other Witnesses Appearing Here.

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN.
The curtain is to be raised on the gouging of Americans by the British rubber interests. This admittedly amounts to millions of dollars annually and affects every user of rubber, but especially those who own automobiles. Every individual who rides to and fro in rubber-tired conveyances, from the humblest deliver to the highest-priced car, pays tribute to the British monopoly. It is estimated in the cost of at least one set of tires every twelve months.

The House committee on interstate and foreign commerce will initiate an investigation into the entire subject tomorrow afternoon. It has asked Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover to be the first witness. He has been requested to give the committee the result of the investigations which have been made by the experts of his department and which already has caused friction between British officials and this country.

Indirect Tax on Americans.
It is understood that Mr. Hoover will present facts and figures which will conclusively show that the tribute levied by the methods of the British government in backing up the rubber monopoly is an indirect tax on every American family.

Secretary Hoover is to be followed, if invitations already extended by the House committee are accepted, as it is believed they will, by Harvey Firestone, Henry Ford, P. W. Litchfield, general manager of the Goodyear Rubber Co., and most of the best known rubber experts in the United States.

It is expected by members of the committee, who are familiar with all of the facts, that sensational features will be developed before the hearings close. There is a growing resentment in Great Britain over the charges which have been fathered by the Commerce Department as to the manner in which the monopoly affects this country. Whereas Secretary Hoover only a brief time ago was the most popular American in the estimation of the average Briton, today he is the target of abuse from every British newspaper and public man who accuses him of interfering in what is purely a domestic concern of the British government. Despite this, the Secretary has taken the position that steps should be taken to curtail rubber consumption and also wherever possible to utilize substitutes.

"Save Rubber" Campaign.
The Secretary of Commerce has let it be known that he hopes to get under way throughout the United States a "save rubber" campaign which will rival in results the well remembered heatless and meatless days of the world war time. It has been estimated that proper precautions in saving rubber, aided by the utilization of substitutes, would reduce within twelve months one-half of the amount of raw material imported into the United States, saving exactly that much money being paid out by the consumers.

As a result of the rubber agitation in this country Americans are becoming increasingly unpopular in British territory. The British politicians and newspapers resent the suggestion that this country has any right to complain because it has to pay high prices for rubber in view of our tariff requirements. One conspicuous critic, Sir Robert Horne, has openly declared that "it comes with bad grace" from the United States to complain when it surrounds its home markets with a high tariff wall and also has control of most of the money of the world.

Firestone Predicts Lower Rubber Cost

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 5 (By A. P.).—Harvey Firestone, tire manufacturer, today expressed the opinion that the peak in rubber prices has been reached and that a decline will come in time. Mr. Firestone, who is here on business, would not venture an opinion as to when the prices would start down, but said he was positive that the top had been reached.

Senate Passes Bill To Sell Old Fort Sites

Approximately 45 obsolete military reservations would be disposed of and the proceeds used in the construction of permanent camps under the terms of a bill passed by the Senate yesterday. The measure, which now goes to the House for action, was sought by the War Department. The reservations to be sold include Fort Washington, Md.; Fort Howard, Md.; Fort Hunt, Va.; and Fort Norfolk, Va.

Regarding Fort Washington, however, the bill carries an amendment providing that any person who has resided on the property for twenty years or heirs to such person may acquire title to the land for $10 an acre. Representative Tydings, of Maryland, also introduced a bill in the House providing that the city of Baltimore could buy Fort Howard for $1.

DAY IN CONGRESS PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF

Met at noon January 5 and adjourned at 6:10 p. m. until today at 12 o'clock.

Senator Bruce, Democrat, of Maryland, addressed the Senate in support of the world court.

Senator Fletcher, of Florida, demanded modification of the terms of the inheritance tax and contended it was unconstitutional.

Consideration of the right of Senator-designate Nye, of North Dakota, to his seat went over until tomorrow.

Passed a bill authorizing sale of surplus military reservations and use of proceeds for permanent construction at various military posts.

Passed La Follette resolution calling upon Treasury Department for information concerning income tax reports of corporations engaged in anthracite mining.

Democrats and insurgents combined, unsuccessfully, to demand a vote on the King resolution for an investigation by a special committee of the activities of the tariff commission.

Senator Borah questioned the constitutionality of the flexible provisions of the tariff act.

Nomination of Jesse Dell, of Georgia, Democrat, to be a member of civil service commission, was confirmed.

In executive session, Senator Johnson, of California, opened his fight on continuation of Wallace McCammon, of Oregon, to be chief judge of the Ninth judicial district.

On a test vote an order for open executive sessions failed and adjournment was taken after two hours of debate without final action.

Ernest O. Patterson, of South Dakota, was nominated to be solicitor of the Department of the Interior.

A bill for Federal operation of Muscle Shoals through a government corporation was introduced by Senator Norris, of Nebraska.

Amendment to the Federal trade commission act including a requirement that the commission seek privately to break up unfair trade methods before instituting public proceedings was introduced by Senator Wadsworth.

All postal employees would be placed on a weekly pay roll basis under a bill by Senator Butler, of Massachusetts.

A resolution by Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, would declare it the sense of the senate that any member of Congress who changed his view on an question pending before the body of which he was a member, in order to aid himself in obtaining a Federal appointment by the President, should not be confirmed.

Printing of business cards upon stamped envelopes by the government would be prohibited under a bill by Senator Dill, of Washington.

Senator Curtis, of Kansas, introduced a bill to incorporate the American Bar association.

Prohibition of intermarriage between whites and negroes within the District and residence here of such persons married in other jurisdictions, is the purpose of a bill by Senator Caraway, of Arkansas.

Registration of lobbyists doing business before committees of Congress or before the departments would be required under a bill by Senator Caraway.

Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, reintroduced his five cent fare bill applicable to all transportation lines in the District.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, introduced resolutions directing the attorney general to advise the Senate if the Federal Trade Commission has refused to submit to him the evidence gathered in investigation of the Aluminum Co. of America case, and what he proposes to do about such refusal; also directing judiciary committee to investigate "forthwith" whether due diligence has been exercised by Department of Justice in prosecuting the inquiry instituted under former Attorney General Stone.

Finance committee approved provisions of House tax bill increasing from $10,000 to $20,000 the limit of income on which the 25 per cent reduction on account of "earned income" may be applied.

Arguments of counsel in the Brookhart-Steck Iowa senatorial contest will be heard today.

HOUSE.
Met at noon, January 5, and adjourned at 5:25 p. m. until today at 12 o'clock.

Adopted, by a vote of 248 to 27, a resolution to create a joint congressional committee to negotiate for the leasing of Muscle Shoals.

Adopted resolution authorizing the Speaker to administer the oath to Representative Raker, of California, who is confined to his room by illness.

Adopted, by a vote of 195 to 55, a resolution asking the Secretary of State for a list of the States that have approved or rejected the child labor constitutional amendment.

SENATE COMMITTEE STARTS ON TAX BILL MELLON APPROVES

Inheritance Provision Is Discussed by Secretary and Senator Fletcher.

DEMOCRATS PLANNING TO PRESENT PROGRAM

Everybody to Push Measure to Early Passage; Earned Income Part Accepted.

(By the Associated Press.)
Secretary Mellon expressed his approval of the House tax reduction bill in general to the Senate finance committee yesterday, and it started actual work on the measure, passing over important controversial provisions, however, for future decision.

Republican members indicated a willingness to follow the administration in support of the House bill, but action on the vital income tax rate provisions was postponed at the request of some Democratic members.

Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the committee, later called the Democratic members into conference, and it was announced they would present a program calling for several changes in the bill. No details of their plan expected to be disclosed before the census would be completed before September, then in December.

Figures showing what the census has disclosed so far have not been compiled, Miss Bentley says, as field enumerators have not kept their reports of totals up to date.

Further delay in completion of the school census was forecast yesterday when Miss Pay L. Bentley, director of the census, admitted it would not be completed before March. It was estimated first that the census would be completed in September, then in December.

Further delay in completion of the school census was forecast yesterday when Miss Pay L. Bentley, director of the census, admitted it would not be completed before March. It was estimated first that the census would be completed in September, then in December.

Figures showing what the census has disclosed so far have not been compiled, Miss Bentley says, as field enumerators have not kept their reports of totals up to date.

Law 745 Years Old Cited in McCarl Edict

Comptroller General McCarl went all the way back to the reign of Henry II, A. D. 1181, to prove to Private John E. Carson that he was not entitled to a refund of the $14.50 that was taken from his pay for the loss of an army revolver.

Carson, while admitting the loss of the weapon, declared that he had replaced it with another just as good. Therefore, he held, he was entitled to get his money back.

Gen. McCarl overwhelmed Carson with laws that prove he was wrong. The cost of the revolver was taken from his pay, he said, pursuant to the seventeenth article of war, and this article was taken from the "Assize of Arms" as settled in King Henry's reign, which stated that no soldier could "rent, sell, pawn, lend or part" with arms.

REDUCED PAY ITEM TO FORCE ARMY TO DISMISS 4,347 MEN

Noncommissioned Officers, Specialists and First-Class Privates Will Go.

DEPARTMENT WILL SEEK TO ENLIST 2,967 OTHERS

Promotions Expected to Be Held Up Temporarily by Budget Cut.

Because of the substantial cut in pay allotments for the army carried in the new budget, it will be necessary to drop 4,347 noncommissioned officers, specialists and privates, first class, during the year, it was announced at the War Department yesterday.

At the same time, in order to keep a standing army of near 118,000, 2,967 privates will be enlisted.

President Coolidge has indicated his desire to keep the army at its present strength of 118,750 men. This the War Department will strive to do, but to meet the shortage in pay it will cut off the higher paid enlisted men and take on lower paid privates.

In bringing about this unavoidable reduction, however, noncommissioned officers, privates, first class, or specialists will not be reduced in grade. The reduction will be brought about through the normal losses to the service in noncommissioned officers, privates, first class, and specialists and for a short time it will be necessary for the War Department to discontinue original appointments and promotions. It is contemplated that, for most grades, this cessation of promotions and appointments will run for a period of probably not exceeding four months.

It is estimated that 1,471 noncommissioned officers will be dropped, while 1,496 first class privates and 1,350 specialists will be let out.

CAROL LOSES NAME AND MUST SUPPORT HIMSELF IN FUTURE

Deprived of Rights Over Son and Use of Profits of His Estate.

PARENTS TO PAY DEBTS ALREADY CONTRACTED

Former Crown Prince Known as Carol Mondstireanu on New Passport.

Bucharest, Roumania, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—While retaining the status of a Roumanian citizen, former Crown Prince Carol by the terms of the bill passed by the Roumanian parliament yesterday, loses all political rights and can not enter Roumania without the permission of the king or the council of the regency, in the event of the king's death. He also loses parental rights over his son, Prince Michael, the new heir apparent.

He is, therefore, deprived of usufruct rights over Michael's future, that is, the right of using the profits of his estate.

It is asserted that Princess Helen will continue to live in Bucharest under the title of Princess of Roumania.

Nation to Show Loyalty.

The government is planning to stage a huge demonstration at tomorrow's religious festival known as "Blessing of the Waters," as a mark of respect and loyalty toward the sovereign. Large bodies of troops are being concentrated in Bucharest for an impressive military parade, which King Ferdinand will review.

King Ferdinand and Queen Marie will pay all the debts Carol contracted prior to his renunciation of succession rights to the throne, but he will have to find the money to foot his own bills hereafter. This was the substance of an announcement made public today.

Even Name Is Changed.

Milan, Italy, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Former Crown Prince Carol, of Roumania, who renounced his right of succession to the throne apparently at the call of love, is to be known in the future as Carol Mondstireanu. At least that is the name, taken from one of his estates in Roumania, appearing on the passport he has just received from Bucharest.

Carol is still at the hotel here where Mme. Magda Lupescu, his auburn-haired, blue-eyed, inamorata is staying. Although having separate apartments, they are almost constantly in each other's company, taking their meals together and slipping out through the servants' entrance for motor rides.

Body of Margherita To Rest in Pantheon

Bordighera, Italy, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—The body of Queen Mother Margherita will be interred in the Pantheon, in Rome, which is reserved for Italy's illustrious dead. It was announced this evening when the king and queen and Premier Mussolini left for Rome to prepare for the funeral. The date of the ceremony remains to be fixed, but it is said it will be of the simplest here, any elaborate service being reserved for Rome.

Debutantes Wrap Knees With "Henderson Scarf"

The "Henderson scarf," an innovation of Mrs. Lelia Gordon Barnett, wife of Gen. George Barnett, former commandant of the Marine corps, has been adopted by many Washington debutantes. It came into existence as the result of Mrs. Henderson's recent criticism of society girls who smoke cigarettes and wear knee-length skirts.

At a dance several days ago, Mrs. Barnett appeared wearing an unusually long scarf. When she sat down, the scarf was cleverly arranged so as to fall gracefully to the wearer's ankles. "I call it the 'Henderson' scarf," said Mrs. Barnett.

The name has stuck, and many debas have come to parties where older women are much in evidence draped in the wraps. They thus escape the criticism of chaperons and the jibes of their companions.

SENATOR A. C. SMITH DISBARRED IN VIRGINIA

Bar Association Opposes the Closing of Case Against Assembly Member.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—The license permitting State Senator Alfred C. Smith, of Norfolk county, to practice law in Virginia was revoked today by the supreme court of appeals after the Senator had announced that he acted under a misapprehension in applying for it.

Termination of the case was protested by the attorney for the Norfolk-Portsmouth Bar association, the complainants, who declared the charges against the senator were "of the most serious character," and involved allegations that he was "convicted of forgery."

He added he was prepared to prove his charges, but the attorney for Senator Smith contended the senator's moral character had been finally determined by the action of the court in first granting the license.

Church Combatants Wield Gravestones

Akna, Province of Carpatho-Russia, Czechoslovakia, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Stone crosses torn from tombstones were used as weapons in a row between the Greco-Catholic and Greco-Orthodox congregations of the parish church here on the occasion of its formal transfer to the Catholics.

Gendarmes were called to quiet the combatants after both sides had suffered casualties. One of the seriously wounded was the Greco-Catholic priest, who incurred the displeasure of both parties and was belabored by both impartially.

Hitchcock's Former Chauffeur Arrested

Accused of having taken the automobile of former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, of Nebraska, 2225 R street northwest, without his consent, Archie Nash, colored, 31 years old, 1842 Seventh street northwest, was arrested upon his release from the Maryland State jail in Baltimore yesterday by Detective Bernard W. Thompson.

Nash, who was chauffeur for Mr. Hitchcock, took the car about two months ago, it is charged, and went to Baltimore. He was in collision with another automobile. He was charged with failing to give the right of way, and went to jail for 52 days in default of a fine of $50 and costs. The car was recovered.

British-Turk Deadlock On Mosul Is Unbroken

London, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—The Turkish Ambassador, Ferid Bey, saw Premier Baldwin today and presented Turkey's reply to the British prime minister's proposals for negotiations over Mosul.

The Westminster Gazette says the reply is courteous, but does not carry matters much further; it does not refuse to negotiate, but suggests the reopening of the whole question from the beginning, as if the League of Nations never had given a decision on the question.

This proposition, it is added, the British government cannot accept. Thus the matter seems to be deadlocked.

Endowments at 65 To Mayo Clinic Staff

New York, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Provision has been made by the Mayo clinic of Rochester, Minn., through an agreement with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. for an endowment fund at the age of 65 years for 130 physicians and surgeons of the clinic staff.

Each member of the group will be assured a fund based on his yearly salary, but not to exceed $10,000. In addition life insurance on a group basis equal to the amount of the endowment is provided. This insurance is a gift of the clinic to the staff.

New Northeast Bus Line to Start Today

Service will be begun at 6:34 o'clock this morning on the new motorbus route of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. from Fourth street and Central avenue northeast to Nineteenth and K streets northwest. There will be a 10-minute schedule daily until 6:24 p. m. and a 20-minute schedule from then until 10:44.

The new bus route is one of the so-called "Coach" routes and the fare will be six tickets for 50 cents with 3-cent transfer privileges to street car lines which are crossed on the trip downtown. The running time will be 16 minutes.

WILSON PRIZE FOR 1925 WILL NOT BE AWARDED

Dr. Stresemann Said to Have Refused Portion Offered for Public Service.

CECIL RECEIVED $25,000

New York, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—The Woodrow Wilson foundation intends to make no award for the most unselfish act of public service by an individual for 1925.

Such an award was made a year ago to Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, but Norman H. Davis, president of the foundation, announced after a meeting of the trustees today that they had not yet been able to agree upon a recipient for the past year.

At the Woodrow Wilson birthday dinner here on December 28, surprise was expressed that the award was not announced during the memorial gathering as it had been the previous year. It was rumored the trustees had decided to vote the award in three prizes to Austen Chamberlain, of Great Britain; Aristide Briand, of France; and Dr. Gustave Stresemann, of Germany, for their services in negotiating the Locarno treaty.

It also was said that Dr. Stresemann had declined to accept such a prize, because "Woodrow Wilson, by not insisting that the foreign points be carried out literally, betrayed the German people."

Mr. Davis today denied the prize had been offered to anyone, though he admitted the three foreign ministers had been considered. He said he had not heard of Dr. Stresemann's refusal and that the subject could not have been discussed with him officially.

The foundation has a fund of about $800,000, from the income of which the awards are made. Lord Cecil was given $25,000.

SHOT MAN AT ORDER OF GENNAS, HE SAYS

Gangster, Violating Code, Surrenders; Fears He Will Be Killed.

Chicago, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Nicholas Augustino, 44 years old, today violated the gangster code when, fearing for his life, he surrendered to police, announced he was a murderer and said he wanted to give information against two men he said were bootleggers.

He came to America from Italy in 1923, he said, and joined the Genna gang here. He said he was sent to White Plains, N. Y., where he was told to kill a man by the name of John unless Augustino received $1,000 which the gang said the man owed on a whisky deal.

He obeyed instructions, he said, and shot the man in five hours. Recently he said two attempts had been made on his life. Police were unable to check on the White Plains slaying.

Boycott of Italy Asked By German Tyrolean

Berlin, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—The National - Liberale Korrespondenz, the party organ of the German people's party, complying with an appeal from Germans residing in Southern Tyrol for help against "Italian oppression," urges as a watchword: "Let no German set foot on Italian soil as long as South Tyrol is being tortured."

The appeal asserts that the object of Italian anti-German policy in South Tyrol is "degradation of the inhabitants and a state of cultural, mental and economic servitude," and that the only remedy for this is "avoidance of travel to Italy, as every trip to Italy the German Tyrolean accounted an act of treason against German nationality."

He charged that because of the tariff protection afforded by the Cumber-Fordney act every purchaser of an automobile pays tribute to the Aluminum Company of America and that likewise every housewife who buys a household kitchen utensil "contributes to this monopoly."

Price of Aluminum Ingots Cut; Trade Is Surprised

New York, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—The Aluminum Co. of America has reduced the price of aluminum ingots 1 cent a pound as of January 1.

The American Metal Market, a trade journal, in announcing the reduction of prices today, stated: "The new prices, which are effective as of January 1, came as a complete surprise to the trade as it had been generally understood that the domestic producer was well sold abroad."

The price of 99 per cent plus grade of aluminum has been reduced from 29 to 28 cents a pound, and the price of 98 to 99 per cent grade from 28 to 27 cents.

Jeritza Falls 12 Feet, On Stage in New York

New York, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Mme. Marie Jeritza, noted operatic star, who has been slightly injured several times because of unexpected falls on the Metropolitan opera house stage, is recovering from a 12-foot plunge she took yesterday from a property cliff. She was saved from serious injury by one of the extras who broke her fall.

Mme. Jeritza was talking with a fellow singer during a rehearsal and when summoned by the rap of the conductor's baton misstepped her step and tumbled headlong. Beyond the sudden fright and severe shaking, she said to have suffered no ill effects.

Fear, Desire Control World, Dr. Coates Says

"Fear and desire are the controlling forces of the world today, and the greatest problem facing science is to discover the exact control of atoms, the dynamic force of mental vibrations," Dr. James B. Coates declared last night at an illustrated lecture on "Thought, Force and Human Auras" at St. Stephen's Parish hall.

Thoughts were declared to determine a person's success or failure in life, by Dr. Coates, and to establish mental solaces were given by Miss Mary S. Apple, contralto soloist of the Mount Pleasant Congregational church, and by Miss Bessie Latham Gibson, musical therapist.

SCHOOL AUDITORIUM NEARING COMPLETION

Western High Pupils Start Rehearsing in New Hall for Annual Review.

The new auditorium at Western High school is nearing completion. This, however, is only part of the extensive addition which has been built to the old building. Work has been going since the autumn of 1923 and will probably be completed by February 1.

The front part of the addition is devoted to offices, which face on the auditorium, which has one of the best equipped stages in the city. Behind them is country. Its seating capacity is 1,350. There are also 26 new classrooms in the addition and 2 gymnasiums.

Rehearsals will start today in the auditorium for the sixth annual "Hop Along Review," a vaudeville performance given by the students under the direction of Miss S. H. Gardner. The review will be given January 29 and 30. About 50 students will take part.

HOUSE FOR LEASING OF MUSCLE SHOALS

Votes for Joint Committee to Negotiate and Report by April 1.

(By the Associated Press.)

The Muscle shoals issue again has come to the fore in Congress. Following the course of several years, the House took action and passed it along to the Senate, where it will meet the usual stubborn opposition.

This opposition so far has prevented any definite disposition of the government's property in Alabama.

The fight has settled down to the old question of government operation against private enterprise. The House yesterday voted 248 to 27 to create a joint congressional committee composed of three members from each body to negotiate for the private leasing of Muscle shoals and report to Congress by April 1.

At the same time Chairman Norris, of the Senate agriculture committee, leader of the government operation forces, introduced a bill in the Senate calling for operation of the property by a Federal commission and the Secretaries of War and Agriculture, announcing that he would oppose vigorously the proposed leasing of the property to private interests.

TILLMAN DENOUNCES MITCHELL DECISION

The Mitchell court-martial decision again drew attention in the House yesterday. Representative Tillman (Democrat), Arkansas, asserting that the verdict means the "end of a first class fighting man."

Meanwhile, the House military committee, complying with a resolution by Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, decided to ask the War Department for a copy of the letter written to former Secretary Weeks opposing reappointment of Col. Mitchell as assistant army air chief.

Mr. Tillman, who several weeks ago assailed the court-martial verdict, declared that the "curtain now drops" on the colonel.

"Mitchell, the brilliant flier, told the truth in a very blunt and soldierly way," he said. "He exposed with candor, but like a plain fighter will, the faulty methods of the haughty higher-ups, and then the uniformed high-brows composing the military tribunal broke his sword and stripped him of his honor."

Man Unable to Tell How He Was Injured

Apparently in a serious condition, Henry Hickerson, 59 years old, of 1113 Eleventh street northwest, was taken from a drug store at 1213 Four-and-a-half street southwest yesterday to Emergency hospital.

Examination at the hospital showed he was suffering from lacerations of the scalp, a possible fracture of the skull and exposure. Hickerson told police that he had gone to the movies Monday night with a friend and afterward had taken several drinks after which he became unconscious. He has no recollection of what transpired since then.

Coolidge Told Outlook In Germany Improves

President Coolidge has been assured by S. Parker Gilbert, reparations agent general, that conditions in Germany are showing a very material improvement and that the outlook for that country is promising in the extreme.

It was stated by the White House spokesman yesterday that Mr. Gilbert has reported that industry generally in all parts of Germany has been organized along modern lines and that the economic result has been gratifying. While Mr. Gilbert naturally is cautious in expressing any opinion concerning the future, he is known to believe that the entire reparations plan is working out along the lines hoped for at the time the Dawes commission completed its work.

MRS. TRINKLE OPERATED UPON; RESTING EASILY

Wife of Governor, Badly Burned in Mansion Fire, Watches Surgeon Work.

2 PAINTINGS ARE SAVED

Richmond, Va., Jan. 4 (By A. P.).—Mrs. E. Lee Trinkle was reported as "resting comfortably" this evening after an operation this morning and redressing of the injuries received yesterday when she was seriously burned about her hands and arms and received less serious burns on her face and neck in the fire which damaged the executive mansion here.

Further examination of damage wrought by the fire inside the executive mansion today revealed that, while the woodwork on the lower floor was utterly destroyed, damage to antiques was not so serious as at first thought. The furniture in the reception room, where the fire blazed after little Billy Trinkle's sparkler had ignited the Christmas tree, was not particularly valuable, most of the antiques being upstairs and in the lower rooms, which were not in the path of the flames.

At least three of the fourteen portraits destroyed were valuable, being originals and dating back to from 1735 to 1750, but the others were copies. Two originals, one of Simon Bolivar and one of Natural Bridge, were saved.

Other serious losses were Mrs. Trinkle's $10,000 violin and a magnificent grand piano.

Estimates on the damage places that of the building at from $20,000 to $30,000, and of the contents at about the same figure. The chief difficulty which must be encountered in reconstruction is that of duplicating the massive columns and beautiful carved woodwork which James Monroe, as governor of Virginia, 114 years ago, placed inside the mansion.

Consuelo Vanderbilt's Sister to Face Knife

New York, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Immediately after the marriage Thursday of Consuelo Vanderbilt to Earl E. T. Smith, Mrs. Frederick C. Church, sister of Miss Vanderbilt and matron of honor at her wedding, will place herself in the care of surgeons for an operation for appendicitis.

It is a coincidence that Consuelo Vanderbilt was stricken with appendicitis just before her sister's wedding in Newport last summer. She was a matron of honor for her sister, and after the wedding went to the operating table.

Moslem Rulers Asked To Organize a League

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Cairo, Jan. 5.—Ibn Saud, who has just won control of Hedjaz, is issuing invitations to all Moslem rulers to send delegates to Mecca for the purpose of forming a league of Moslem rulers of nations for the administration of holy places in Islam.

NORFOLK STEAMER AGROUND IN FOG

Motorists in this locality were using headlights throughout the day. Golfers were hard hit by the fog. Ordinarily, in such balmy weather, the links in Potomac park are heavily crowded but yesterday they were deserted. It would have been impossible to follow the travel of a golf ball, much less find one afterward.

Alexandria, located as it is on the river, was more heavily enveloped in fog than was Washington. Government boats stopped running, as did many privately-owned craft.

Coast Shipping Reported Almost Paralyzed by Fog

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Shipping in this section has been paralyzed almost completely as a result of a heavy fog that has enveloped the coast for 36 hours and extending from Charleston, S. C., to the New Jersey coast and beyond the Gulf stream to the east. Passenger steamers operating out of Norfolk have been delayed from two to twelve hours and with few exceptions freight boats have sought safety at anchor until the weather clears.

The Old Dominion Line steamer Jamestown, due early this morning from New York, had been unable to dock early tonight. The steamer Cretan, of the Merchants & Miners' line, due here at 7 o'clock this morning, late today was reported anchored in Chesapeake bay not far out of Baltimore. Other bay boats also were delayed for varying lengths of time.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets along the successful substitute for castor oil—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

Man Breaks Ankles To Escape a Bath

Special to The Washington Post. Chicago, Jan. 5.—Morris Sherman, an aged man, preferred broken legs or even death to a bath. He suffered broken ankles and must take the bath in addition.

The Marquette police took him to the county hospital, where it was unanimously decided that his first imperative need was a bath. Sherman, fearing the great adventure of contact with soap and water, decided he would take chances with death instead. He ran to the nearest window and leaped out, breaking both ankles. But cruel fate decreed that he must await the mending of his broken bones and also submit to the bath.

FREIGHT WAR FEARED OVER PIG-IRON RATE

Ohio Urged to Suspend New Central and Wheeling Road Schedules.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—A possible railroad freight war is foreseen by officials of the Ohio public utilities commission today in a controversy over pig iron rates. The breaking away from the Central freight association by the New York Central and the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroads is said to be the first indication of the fight over the new rates.

Yesterday representatives of the Central freight association appealed to the State utilities commission to suspend the new rate schedule filed by the New York Central to become effective January 7 and which provides for reductions of 17 to 30 cents per ton on pig iron from the Toledo district. Today the Wheeling & Lake Erie filed a new schedule providing for similar reductions not only from Toledo, but from Cleveland and Lorain also.

Eugene Morris, of Chicago, chairman of the Central freight association, told the commission that the association now is working on a revision of pig iron rates for this territory and that to permit the New York Central's new schedule would throw the entire scheme out of balance and fail to correct present inequalities.

At 10:30 this morning Evelyn regained consciousness and began calling for "Alice." The doctor and nurses did not know to whom she referred. Emetics and the use of the stomach pump, her physician believed, had removed most of the poison and her return to partial consciousness gave hope that she would recover.

3 of Barge Crew Die In Flare-Back Blast

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—An explosion on the Gulf Refining Co. barge Gulfprite here late today resulted in the death of three of the crew and the injury of several other persons. The dead: Thomas Andrews, 21, engineer; Howard Johnson, 20, oiler; L. Davis, 22, engineer. The injured included Capt. Harry Hanson of the barge, and Clayton Vogel, superintendent of the Gulf Refining Co. plant, bruised and burned.

The explosion followed a flare-back in an attempt to ignite the furnace fire with a blow torch used for that purpose.

HOW THE COURT WORKS.

The commission appointed by the council of the league of nations to inquire into the dispute between Great Britain and Turkey over possession of the Mosul region reported on the legal questions involved as follows:

The commission is of opinion that from the legal point of view the disputed territory must be regarded as an integral part of Turkey until that power renounces her rights.

Iraq can not claim the disputed territory either by invoking the right of conquest or any other legal right. It can only advance moral arguments to the effect that, since a state of Iraq has been formed, the nature of its territory must be such as to allow of its normal development.

The commission does not feel competent to decide what weight should be given to these legal considerations; that is a matter for the council. The commission will therefore take no account of them in its final conclusions.

The commission glossed over the question of oil development, but unmistakably favored dispossessing Turkey of the oil fields, by the use of the following language:

A concession has been granted (to the Turkish Petroleum Company) to cover the whole of the kingdom of Iraq except the Basra region; the concessionaires will have the right to select 192 square miles, divided into 24 rectangular areas of 8 square miles each.

A point in the deed of concession which is highly important from the international point of view is that, with the exception of the 24 areas referred to above, the whole of the zone covered by the concession is to be open to companies and individuals of all nationalities.

That is, after the petroleum company controlled by the British government has taken its pick of the oil fields, which are "an integral part of Turkey," the world can have the rest. The total area of the oil fields, by an odd coincidence, is less than the 192 square miles granted to the concessionaire.

The boundary commission shifted back to the league council the responsibility for giving Mosul to Great Britain in the face of the fact that the territory is found to be "an integral part of Turkey."

The council had no difficulty in deciding that the oil fields should go to Great Britain. The world court advised that the council had power to decide the question, although Turkey protested that neither the council nor the court had jurisdiction over the matter.

The foregoing recital of facts shows how the world court serves the league of nations in executing the predatory provisions of the covenant, which authorize the league to take territory from one people and give it to another.

Senators may talk from now to doomsday, but they can not destroy the truth. The truth is that the league of nations, advised and empowered by a decision of the so-called "world court," has given to Great Britain the Mosul oil fields belonging to Turkey.

Turkey is preparing to fight to hold her territory. Every labor member of the British parliament walked out when the commons voted to proceed with the plans for annexing Mosul. There is a sense of justice inherent in the British people which might seriously interfere with an attempt to destroy a nation fighting for its own soil.

How can it be held that the so-called "world court" is a court of justice, when it forges a political weapon at the behest of its creator; the league of nations, with which to deprive nations of an integral part of their territory?

Millions of Americans are in favor of joining the world court because they think it will administer justice and promote world peace. What do they think of the Mosul decision and its consequences?

The National Capital yesterday became a "regular city" in electric traffic regulation. The new system of signals became effective at 2 o'clock on Sixteenth street, and the initial demonstration was in every way successful. Under the new system, 45 seconds will be given automobiles to move uninterruptedly north and south and 30 seconds for east and west bound vehicles, except in rush hours, when 45 seconds will be allowed for traffic moving each way. Electric traffic signals have been used successfully in nearly every large municipality and in many smaller towns.

As soon as possible all the important thoroughfares of Washington should be equipped with these appliances.

LABOR MAKES AN APPEAL.

Representatives of organized labor in New York have appealed to Gov. Smith and Mayor Walker to use their influence with the anthracite operators and miners in an effort to settle the coal strike. It is not necessary to say that the organization which makes the appeal does not in any way represent the miners. The appeal is made by John Sullivan, president of the Central Trades and Labor Council, with a membership of 750,000 workers in New York city, where the results of the strike are felt more acutely than in any other city. In asking the intercession of the governor of New York and the new head of the municipality, Mr. Sullivan asserts that the greatest sufferers from the coal shortage are the dwellers in tenements where soft coal can not be used.

The leader of these 750,000 workmen who are suffering from the voluntary act of a much smaller number of their "comrades in arms" urges Gov. Smith and Mayor Walker to intervene in the strike "in the interest of humanity," confident, he says, that with the governor's great influence the strike can be ended.

Mr. Sullivan might better have directed his appeal to the president of the United Mine Workers and his associates, though it is highly improbable that any argument will have any effect with Mr. Lewis, not even the fact that thousands of his brother workers are suffering. Both the mine leaders and operators have shown that they have no interest in the public and will not be moved by any arguments except those which bear upon their own interests. If they can settle the coal strike and make the public pay for the losses they have sustained, and at the same time maintain or advance the price of fuel, they will be willing to come to an agreement. It is useless for the Central Trades and Labor Council to ask Gov. Smith or anybody else to urge upon the anthracite disputants the welfare of the public.

Senators and members of the House are displaying a lively interest in the traffic rules of Washington. This is encouraging. Some of our legislators have never been interested in anything relating to Washington. Who knows but that eventually Congress will show some concern for the National Capital?

A PALACE DEPRECIATES.

If the Fifth avenue residence of the late Senator William A. Clark, millionaire copper king, who died a few months ago, were on any other piece of real estate, it would be worth many millions of dollars. In Florida, for instance, it would command a fabulous sum, as it would also in some other residential section of New York. But standing in Fifth avenue it presents the strange situation of being worth much less than the ground upon which it is built, though it cost millions more than the estimated value of the real estate. The house has been for sale ever since the death of its owner, but has not found a purchaser. Now the furnishings and objects of art and paintings which were not bequeathed to the Corcoran Art Gallery in Washington are to be sold at public auction. Meantime the public is to be granted the privilege of viewing the magnificent interior of the mansion, said to be the most ornate and costly dwelling ever erected in this country, the product of several architects, two marble quarries and a bronze foundry. The panels of the dining room were cut from oaks in Sherwood forest and carved by Swiss craftsmen imported by the builder. Some of the trees were more than 1,000 years old.

Men who deal in New York real estate estimate the value of the land at $1,600,000. The house cost its owner more than $7,000,000 to build. It has 121 rooms and 21 baths, and yet the real estate experts say they would pay more for the ground without the palace upon it.

Work upon the contract of demolition of the old Ebbitt house will be started at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Souvenir bricks will be presented to President Coolidge, Secretary Mellon, John Hays Hammond, John Joy Edson and James William Bryan. The latter is the member of the National Press club who carried to success the campaign for financing the enterprise. These bricks will be carefully wrapped in waterproof paper and will not be carried in the hats of the recipients. The Fuller Construction Co. has contracted to have the new building ready for occupancy by the end of the year.

PROSPEROUS PORTO RICO.

The advantages conferred on Porto Rico by American occupation are forcefully presented by Gov. H. M. Towner in his annual report, which has just been made public by the United States War Department. Discovered and named by Columbus in 1493, conquered for Spain by Ponce de Leon in 1509-1511, conquered by Gen. Miles during the Spanish-American war, and ceded to the United States by the treaty of Paris in 1898, Porto Rico is administered under the Foraker act of 1900, as amended in 1909 and extensively altered by the Jones act in 1917. The last-mentioned act extended American citizenship to all Porto Ricans and granted manhood suffrage. Fourth largest of the Greater Antilles group, Porto Rico has an area of 3,435 square miles and, according to the census of 1922, a population of 1,346,623, or 392.14 to the square mile. Its soil is extremely fertile and largely under cultivation. Even the mountain ranges, which run through the middle of the island, with an altitude of from 1,500 to 3,750 feet, are cultivable to the summits. Its chief exports are sugar, pineapples, oranges, grapefruit, tobacco and coffee.

Every year since America took possession, valuation, production and trade have steadily increased, and the year ended October 1 last has been of the greatest progress. All agricultural products were higher than ever before. For example—sugar, which is the most valuable crop, was nearly 200,000 tons more than the previous record and over $5,000,000 greater in value than the yield of the preceding year. Property, assessed in 1901 at $96,000,000, has now a valuation of $316,000,000. The per capita taxation last year was only $7.86, or about one-tenth of the rate in the continental United States. Purchases from the United States rose from $7,000,000 in 1900 to $79,000,000 in 1925, and sales to the United States increased from $3,333,000 in 1900 to over $84,000,000 in 1925. In the same period trade with other countries has gone up from $6,000,000 to over $21,000,000.

This is a splendid record and one of which the American government, and especially the Porto Ricans themselves, have reason to be proud. On the social side there is still room for improvement, more particularly in the matter of housing and hygiene, but in these respects great improvement has been effected within the last decade. Possessing, as it does, the most healthful climate of the western hemisphere in the tropics, Porto Rico bids fair to become, in process of time, an ideal location for business and residence.

The Dupont Citizens association can hardly be blamed for its determination to wage a bitter fight against the establishment of an "undertakers' row" on Connecticut avenue. Mobilization of the undertakers in any one section of the city doubtless would result in a decrease of property values in that particular community. The citizens association proposes to have the undertakers excluded on the ground that they are a nuisance. Some persons who are very much alive probably will agree with this point of view. While undertakers are not necessities of life they are indispensable.

THE RUBBER INQUIRY.

The Parker investigation into the manipulation of prices by foreign exporters of crude rubber and other products, including coffee, will start at 2 o'clock today in the committee on foreign and interstate commerce. Secretary Hoover will appear and will make a statement outlining the situation as reported to him by the division of foreign commerce of his department, which statement will form the basis of the proceedings in the committee. It is expected that Messrs. Firestone, Goodyear and other tire manufacturers will be present at the opening session and that they will be able to furnish many details of the operations of the British rubber manipulators. It is hoped that information will be forthcoming which will enable the committee to make recommendations designed to remedy the situation.

The introduction of the resolution for the investigation by Chairman Parker was followed immediately by vociferous cries from the other side, and already there has been a decided reaction which may possibly extend to the point where the British plantation owners will abandon their squeezing program. The inquiry will continue, however, until the committee is possessed of facts sufficient to warrant a report to the House. That report, it is intended, will be thorough and exhaustive not only as it relates to the rubber market, but also as to other foreign products. The hearings will probably continue for several weeks.

An old-timer is one who can remember when it sometimes was necessary to steal a kiss.

GAME BIRDS FROM EUROPE.

Hungarian partridges from central Europe may soon replace some of the game birds which are rapidly disappearing from the woods and fields on this side of the Atlantic. England is importing feathered game of this variety from Czechoslovakia to restock her moors and preserves, and the Mongolian pheasant has become so thoroughly acclimated in some of our Eastern States, and has been so carefully protected that the birds are almost as common as were the native grouse at one time.

The wholesale slaughter by pot-hunters of the bob-o-link, in the guise of reed birds, on the marshes of the District and nearby States—known as the rice bird farther south—has led to the practical extermination of that cheery summer songster from all Northern meadows. Passenger pigeons which roosted literally by millions in western New York and Pennsylvania 60 years ago disappeared completely in the early seventies, and not a single specimen of the species has been seen for upward of 50 years. Twenty-five years ago Pennsylvania avenue was patrolled night after night during "the season" by a score of peddlers carrying strings of "bob-whites," which they offered for sale at a dollar a dozen, or even less when trade was poor. But those days are gone, and the hunter who is fortunate enough to be invited for "a little shooting" by a friend in southern Virginia, or North Carolina, is fortunate indeed if he succeeds in making a bag of a dozen birds during a week-end's sport. The American Game Protective association is doing great work in educating the voters to the necessity of further game protecting laws, but they started in too late to save some species.

The Worst Story I heard today was told to me by Lee Roberts, of Boston, Mass. This Lee is quite a card. When he first started out he was a trick roper, and we used to practice together, and he was good, too. Then he got in with his Brother who is a big Wool Dealer in Boston and Lee started from the bottom right on up. Now he can see a sheep running across a pasture and tell you the grade, weight, and how much cotton Underwear it will pan out per sheep. He can take a hand-ful of wool and hold a Clinic over it a few seconds and diagnose it, and tell you how much lint to the square yard.

Then Lee took up Aviation in the war, and when he came back he was one of our few heroes that got his same job and Girl back. So he is right back in the business mixing cotton with a little wool and peddling it as "All Wool."

There hasn't been but one all wool piece of goods in ten years, and John D. Rockefeller got that.

Well, Lee was around to see me when I played in Boston the other night. Well, Lee told me a story. I had it understood before he started it wasn't to be a wool or sheep story. It was about Boston. It happened right there. You know Boston is supposed to be the most cultured and intellectual town outside Oolagah, Oklahoma. (Ever hear of Oolagah?) That's where I was born, and that Oo is not a misprint; they belong there. It's the only Oh, Oh in the world where you have to say Oh, Oh twice before you start in saying the rest of it.

But it's Boston that Lee said was so cultured.

Maybe it was. He don't show it much.

A little Girl fell out of a window in Boston. A kind-hearted old Lady rushed up and asked her, "How did you fall?"

The little Girl from Boston replied, "Vertically, ma'am."

PRESS COMMENT

Help, But Don't Join 'Em.
National Spectator, Washington:

If the family down the street gets into difficulties you very naturally go down there, extend your sympathy and offer whatever substantial assistance you can afford or that may be needed. It does not occur to you to become a member of the distressed family in order to help. That policy of assisting without joining appears, from a speech delivered recently in New York by Hon. Frank B. Kellogg, Secretary of State, to be the fixed policy of the United States. As a creed defining the foreign policy of the country three paragraphs from the speech of the Secretary of State are sufficient:

"I suppose all men will agree that the feature of our policy which gives it its chief distinction and at the same time is least understood and appreciated by the rest of the family of nations is the fixed determination to avoid participation in purely European political matters. This policy has its roots deeply embedded in our history and we have clung to it consistently ever since we came to be a nation. Its influence is no less controlling today than when the farewell address of Washington was delivered. Not since 1798 has the United States been a party to any military alliance with a foreign power."

To us the farewell address by George Washington continues to be a better guide for the United States than is the covenant of the League of Nations by Georges Clemenceau and the Hon. David Lloyd George. George Washington was thinking solely of the United States when he wrote the farewell address. We do not know what M. Clemenceau and Mr. Lloyd George were thinking of when they were getting up the covenant of the League of Nations. Certainly, however, and quite naturally, they were thinking more about the welfare of Europe than they were of the welfare of the United States.

A Pugilist Chanticleer.

Baltimore Sun: Joop Leit, a young Dutch pugilist, is an honor to his country and his profession. His sudden burst of operatic song after triumphing over a British heavy-weight in London proves him an artist of wide virtuosity. The best that American boxers attempt is a season on the vaudeville stage or in the movies—surely an unconvincing expression of the nobler elements of culture. And Joop is also shrewd. Audiences at a prize fight are severely critical of highbrow stuff, but the one which he faced accepted the Singing Dutchman's offerings. He did not vocalize before the bout. He waited until he had put one good man on the ropes and then, looking sternly at the crowd, he let them have it.

All Young.

Philadelphia Inquirer: Personally, we can see nothing startling or unusual in the fact that the pearl divers of Totoka, Japan, are all young women. So are our gold-diggers.

Canes Taboo.

New York Telegram: It was said at the time of the civil war that the dandies of Boston carried their swords into battle with the same grace that they displayed as they swung their walking sticks on Beacon street.

Now from the same city comes a report that canes have gone the way of silk hats and mutton chop whiskers. A haberdasher is quoted as saying, "We put them in the window. We've got to have something

Knocking Out Partitions

By GLENN FRANK

I HAVE spoken several times in these essays of the personal problems that grow out of the fact that this is an age of intensive specialization.

Specialized knowledge is today at a premium. Specialized men are at a discount.

The shoemaker who sticks to his last may be the best shoemaker; but this can hardly be said today of any man who is doing something other than a highly technical or mechanical job.

We are living in a time in which the partitions of life have been knocked out and the specialists confounded.

The business man must today be more than a business man. He must be something of a sociologist, or his bungling with labor may undo him.

He must have at least a bowing acquaintance with science so that he can understand how to call to his side those scientists whose researches are making it possible to emancipate business from the blunders and tyranny of the rule-of-thumb.

He must know something about international politics, or he may find his far-flung scheme of investment or credit on the rocks because some intangible aspiration of the natives of an African colony was left out of his reckoning.

The educator must today be more than an educator.

It is no longer enough for him to be just a teacher of accumulated knowledge; he must be keenly alive to the character.

Today the street cuts squarely across the campus.

The classroom opens into the market place.

The slum is next door to the seminary.

The modern world is the educator's market; his graduates are his goods; his goods must bear some real relation to his market.

The educator fails who sends his graduates into the modern world with the information and outlook of the medieval world.

He must know this modern world and its baffling cross-currents or he cannot make his students at home in it.

The doctor must today be more than a doctor.

Curing sick individuals is only one part of his job.

The modern doctor must know his city as few men know it.

He must know his city and understand its problems and its other servants because the doctor will more and more be judged as failing in his function unless his practice is an intelligently related part of a city-wide cooperation with the sanitary engineer, the architect, the dietetic expert, the parent, the teacher, the whole municipal government.

The more we know about the world in which our work lies the better we shall do our special work.

to hang the derby on. But nobody buys 'em."

In the great war the crook-handed walking stick became the badge of military authority. Perhaps the time is coming when that companionable article will be affected only by John Milton's captains, colonels and knights at arms.

Where Is the Race Going?
Kansas City Star: A Beloit college expedition is being fitted out for the purpose of tracing the origin of man. It is believed the expedition will find the beginnings of the race in northern Africa. When it is known where the race came from, will some one please fit out an expedition that will find out where the race is going?

Insulting Operators.
New York Sun: A blackguard who insulted telephone operators over the wire was fined $2 for disorderly conduct. It would have been better to report him to the foreman of a crew of linemen.

Railroad Labor Board.
Kansas City Times: The purpose in establishing the government railroad labor board was sound enough, but the results have not been satisfactory. The movement to return to private hands the labor problems arising from the operation of railroads is more promising. Whenever it is possible to leave or return to private hands anything that can be done as well or better by private hands, the government should keep

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

False Report From Bagdad.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The league wishes to call your attention to the ridiculous cable dispatch from Bagdad which appeared in your Sunday issue under the heading, "Bomb Wounds Shah of Persia, Says Bagdad Rumor." As the rumor is entirely unfounded, I wish to request its denial in your tomorrow's issue.

The World Court.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your editorials against the entrance of this country into the court of the League of Nations are clear, strong, logical and conclusive. They are an appeal to reason. They are a summons to patriotism.

We can go into that court, but we may not then get out of it. There is an entrance, but no exit.

Who are the men who are behind this measure rushing it to a vote in the Senate? Why this haste? Why bind the republic before public opinion is informed? If this matter were submitted to the American people, would it not be defeated by a greater majority than the combined vote given to Harding and Coolidge? LOUIS W. REILLY.

Washington, January 4.

Street Stop Signs.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Regarding traffic regulations I refer only to one, which seems, to say the least, very peculiar, viz: Wherever there is a sign painted on the street "Stop" every car passing the sign stops, but after the first car stops the car behind only a few feet from the first car, comes to a stop and all the other cars do the same at the stop sign. The final outcome of all this stopping of about six or eight cars or more within a few feet of each other is rank congestion of traffic.

Why not change this particular regulation that whenever one car comes to a stop at a stop sign painted on the street, paving all the other cars immediately beyond the first car can proceed without stopping?

WILLIAM BLUEMER.

"ENTANGLEMENT."

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Entanglement in European political affairs have been the question before the United States Senate and in the public mind of Americans ever since the close of the world war.

Some have favored the League of Nations, which was overwhelmingly defeated in the Senate and in the election of President Harding in 1920, and now some favor the world court of international justice, which is regarded by some as another name for the League of Nations. However, so far as either of them is concerned in bringing about world peace, I think one is about as good as the other.

To join either of them or both, I don't think the United States could be anymore entangled than we are now from the world war and its results. Doubtless it will take 50 years to untangle the billions the United States and the business men of this country have loaned to the nations of Europe. It will probably take longer to pay off the allotments, compensations and pensions of the soldiers and their widows, to say nothing of the irretrievable sacrifice made by the flower of youth who went forth to battle.

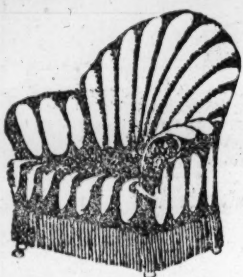

To join the world court of international justice will probably hasten universal peace and secure a better collection of our debts.

Irwin-Gerrit Nuptials.

The wedding of Miss Helen Gerrit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Gerrit, to Mr. Clinton F. Irwin, of Elgin, Ill., took place yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the presence of a small company in the Shrine of the Sacred Heart. The ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle, the Rev. Gregory Gerrit, O. S. B., after which there was a wedding breakfast at Rauscher's for the members of the two families and the clergy.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and had as her only attendant her sister, Miss Louise Gerrit. The best man was Mr. Edward J. Farrell, of Chicago. The bride wore a gown of gray georgette made with close-fitting bodice, long sleeves and high neck and a full skirt with godets adding to the fullness. Velvet of a darker gray was used as trimming. A gray satin hat and gray slippers completed the costume. Her flowers were a corsage of orchids and tea roses.

The bride's sister was costumed in dark green georgette trimmed with velvet of the same shade and a satin hat to match. Her flowers were a corsage of yellow roses.

Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Irwin departed for New York to sail for Bermuda on their honeymoon, after which they will make their home in Elgin, where Mr. Irwin is practicing law.

The bride traveled in a dress of beige faille and a coat of squirrel collared in platinum fox. Her hat was a small model of beige trimmed in green.

The out-of-town guests who came for the wedding were Mr. J. P. Stilleman, of New York city; Mrs. Clinton Fillmore Irwin, of Elgin, Ill., mother of the bridegroom; Mrs. M. H. Farrell and her daughter, Miss Josephine Farrell, of Chicago, aunt and cousin of the bride.

MAJ. LOEFFLER, 92, DIES; LONG ACTED AS WHITE HOUSE USHER

Served at Executive Mansion
From Grant to Taft Administrations.

PERFORMED PICKET DUTY
HERE DURING CIVIL WAR

Full Military Honors to Be Given Him in Burial at Arlington Friday.

Maj. Charles D. A. Loeffler, retired, usher at the White House from the Grant to Taft administrations, died from bronchitis yesterday morning at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Ekhardt, Jr., 1212 Holly street. He was 92 years old.

He was born in Gobenberg, Germany, in 1833. At the age of 16 years he came to this country and after working in Baltimore for a few years enlisted in the cavalry of the army in 1858. He saw service in Texas and did picket duty in the vicinity of Washington during the civil war. Maj. Loeffler served as dispatch carrier for the Army of the Potomac under Gen. McClellan, Burnside and Hooker.

The day following the assassination of Lincoln Maj. Loeffler reported to Secretary of War Stanton for duty as doorkeeper and bodyguard. When Gen. Grant was inaugurated President in 1869, Maj. Loeffler was appointed usher at the White House, and he continued in that position until the beginning of the Taft administration. Gen. Grant, in a testimonial to Maj. Loeffler, said of him: "Faithful and capable. A good soldier and a very deserving man."

Maj. Loeffler was discharged from the army in 1872 by order of President Grant to receive a civil appointment. In 1898 he received a commission in the regular army as military storekeeper with the rank of captain.

Maj. Loeffler is survived by four sons and two daughters, Frank A. Loeffler, Carl A. Loeffler, John F. Loeffler, Garnet G. Loeffler, Mrs. Ekhardt, of this city, and Mrs. Charles S. Loud, of Albion, Mich. His wife, Mrs. Catherine Louise Loeffler, died four years ago.

Funeral Friday.

Funeral services will be held at the residence of Maj. Loeffler, 1632 P street, at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Interment will be in Arlington National cemetery at 3 o'clock with full military honors. Maj. Loeffler was a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, Commandery of the State of Ohio, Grand Army of the Republic, Scottish Rite Masons, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Spanish War Veterans Association, of Oldest Inhabitants, Army and Navy club and the Luther Place Memorial church.

Colored Groups Plan Thrift Week Program

Observance of national thrift week in colored circles from January 17 to 23 was planned for last night at the Twelfth street Y. M. C. A. by an executive committee representing schools, colleges, civic associations and clubs. Committee chairman submitted an intensive program, beginning with an observance of "Share With Others Day" in all colored churches.

C. W. Banton is chairman of the general thrift committee for the negro group, which consists of G. C. Wilkinson, J. C. Bruce, Mrs. M. A. McAdoo, A. S. Pinkett, Miss Jeanette Carter, Dr. H. T. Medford, the Rev. J. U. King, Lieut. Frank Coleman and George A. Robinson, chairman of the finance committee.

Boy Run Down by Auto.

Run down by an automobile while crossing Twelfth street and Rhode Island avenue northeast last night, James B. Curley, 10 years old, 1616 Douglas street northeast, suffered slight scalp injuries. The automobile was driven by Linden Sopher, of Mount Rainier, Md.

Cleland, Miss Mary Chitt, Miss Martha Gardner, Miss Marion McLaughlin, Miss Elizabeth Sweeney, Capt. Thomas Finley, Lieut. Richard Gayle, Ensign Cameron Briggs, Ensign John Broadbent and Mrs. Bronson Jewell.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ellis and daughter, Miss Virginia Ellis, who have been at the Powhatan since late autumn, have returned to their home in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Mrs. John C. Roth, of St. Paul, Minn., formerly of this city, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Louis L. Anus, at Cathedral Mansions.

Mr. J. C. Roth, who was director of the Interstate Commerce Commission, now is general secretary of the Great Northern Railway at St. Paul.

Col. William E. Gillmore is in New York for a day or two and is at the Hotel Astor.

The usual Friday afternoon gatherings at the Congressional club will be resumed this week. This week's program will be a musical one, with Miss Katherine Riggs, harpist; Mme. Henriette Coquelet, soprano, and Miss Margaret Bowie Grant, pianist.

The club members who will assist in serving tea are Mrs. John A. M. Adair, Mrs. Sidney Anderson, Mrs. John M. Baer, Mrs. James T. Bege, Mrs. Allen W. Barkley, Mrs. E. M. Beers, Mrs. Thomas Blanton, Mrs. O. E. Bland, Mrs. Frank L. Bowman, Mrs. William B. Bowling, Mrs. Charles Brand and Mrs. Elbert S. Brigham.

The Maryland Society will have a supper and dance at the Plaza tomorrow night. Members of the Tennessee society will have a dinner in the small ball room of the Plaza Friday.

McCoy Asks Women To See Juvenile Court

Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy, of the District Supreme court, advised women to visit the juvenile court, in an address before the Columbian Women of George Washington university yesterday afternoon at Stockton hall. Speaking of the importance of the juvenile court, he said that since the home was the foundation of the nation, he felt the corrective work of this tribunal of utmost value.

Judge McCoy was introduced by Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, president of the organization, and he and Mrs. McCoy were guests of honor at a reception before the meeting.

Pocketbook Snatched on Street.
Miss Cora Harris, 908 K street northwest, reported to police of the Sixth precinct that while she was walking along E street near Fifth northwest last night her pocketbook, containing a small amount of money and some important papers, was snatched from her arm by two colored men.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR J. S. MACKINTOSH

Friend of Abraham Lincoln and Daniel Webster Dies at Age of 98.

FIRST TO SHIP BANANAS

John Sherman Mackintosh, great grandson of Roger Sherman, Declaration of Independence signer, a friend of Abraham Lincoln and Daniel Webster and distributor of the first shipload of bananas to America, died at the age of 98 years and 2 months at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. H. Newell, 1829 Phelps place northwest, Monday. Funeral services were held yesterday at Gawler's funeral parlors, 1730 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, after which the body was taken to Forest Hills, Mass., for burial.

Mr. Mackintosh, born in Canton, Mass., received his life insurance a year ago because his insurance company decided to declare him "dead" because of his longevity. He knew Chicago as a "mud-hole village" and as a boy walked 20 miles to hear Daniel Webster dedicate Bunker Hill monument. He also heard Lincoln, then an unknown lawyer, make an address at Faneuil hall, Boston.

For more than 50 years Mr. Mackintosh was in the foreign-fruit business in Boston. Among the "curiosities" he received from the clipper ships was a consignment of bananas from Central America. He failed to convince the American public that bananas were good fruit and had to give and throw away the shipment.

About ten years ago he retired and came to Washington. His daughter, four grandchildren and two great grandchildren survive.

HEARN'S BODY LAID TO REST IN ARLINGTON

High Army Officers Attend the Funeral of Colonel Killed by Automobile.

The same caisson and horses which bore the bodies of President Harding and Gen. Nelson A. Miles in their funeral processions yesterday carried to its last resting place the body of Lieut. Col. Roscoe H. Hearn, the army officer who died Sunday morning of injuries suffered when struck by an automobile near the Congressional Country club.

Following church services in the Fort Myer chapel at 2 o'clock, Col. Hearn's body was buried in Arlington cemetery near the grave of Gen. Miles with full military honors. High ranking officers of the army, including Brig. Gen. Samuel D. Tilden, commandant of the District of Washington, participated.

The Third Cavalry band and an escort from the Sixteenth Field artillery participated in the funeral procession, while Third Cavalry colors were used, and a firing party from the same troops employed. Lieut. Louis Ely commanded the troops participating.

DR. JOHN J. SLATTERY FUNERAL TOMORROW

Survived by Wife, 7 Daughters and 4 Sons; Burial in Mount Olivet.

Dr. John J. Slattery, lifelong resident of Washington and charter member of Washington council, Knights of Columbus, fourth degree, died at his home, 3173 Eighth street northwest, Monday night after an illness of several months.

Requiem mass will be sung for the deceased tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the Shrine of the Sacred Heart, burial being in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Dr. Slattery was born in Washington July 16, 1866, and was graduated from St. John's college and Georgetown Medical school. He was prominent in medical and fraternal societies.

His wife, seven daughters, Mrs. G. V. Repetti, Mrs. Paulus Thyson, Mrs. Lawrence Dawson, Mrs. Edward M. Gallagher and Misses Loreta, Mary and Nora Slattery; four sons, John J., Edward, Daniel and Francis; three sisters, Mrs. James Fitzgerald, Mrs. Catherine Creagh, Mrs. Nora Pennell, and two brothers, Daniel and Edward, survive him.

Student Slashed on Train.
While en route to this city on a Southern railway train yesterday, near Alexandria, Va., Orville Black, colored, a student at Howard university, was cut on the chest and hand by an unidentified student of another college. Black was returning to school from his home in Winston-Salem, N. C., after the Christmas holidays. He was taken to Freedman's hospital.

SEPARATE MOTHERS' PENSION BODY ASKED

sion of the District, and Mrs. George Ricker, president of the District of Columbia League of Women voters, had appeared before the committee to support Mr. Keller's bill and when the "compromise" plan was produced they were not prepared to speak officially. They both supposed that their organizations were anxious for legislation on the subject.

Spokesmen accompanying Miss Loebe devoted their remarks mostly to tributes to Miss Loebe's ability and experience as a social worker. William P. Eno, now of New York, but a resident here for 27 years and who came here at the last Congress to assist in getting the District its present traffic bureau, said that it was his observation that Miss Loebe usually got what she wanted and indorsed her present activities.

Gilbert Opposes Entire Idea.

The whole mothers' pensions idea does not go so well with Representative Gilbert, of Kentucky, member of the committee, but he said that inasmuch as it applied to the District and not his State he would probably vote for it.

The District committee room was packed with women mostly when Mr. Gilbert declared that the proposed legislation was rather of a socialistic trend. In some way he mentioned the colored people and about ten women asked him at the same time if he wanted to go back to slavery. Mr. Gilbert said it was his observation that the colored people, not having someone else to take care of them, usually take care of themselves.

Miss Margaret Wilson was not present at the meeting, although advance reports had said she would be here. Mrs. Loebe explained, however, that she was authorized to speak for Miss Wilson and to say that she was very much interested in the local legislation.

The return of events prevented an immediate report of the bill from the subcommittee, and thus consideration by the full District committee today.

It is planned, however, to report it to the full committee Thursday. In that event, Chairman Zihlman said, he would try to get the full committee together Friday in order to have the bill ready for consideration by the House on the first District day, Monday.

As the bill now shapes up, the separate agency would be under the supervision of the board of public welfare, if it is created, but it would remain a separate agency. The District commissioners would appoint its members instead of the President as provided for in Representative Mills' bill.

Maj. Gen. R. McCoy Dies at Age of 58

Madison, Wis., Jan. 5. (By A. P.) Maj. Gen. Robert McCoy, 58, died here today. He had been in ill health since the world war, when he served with the Thirty-second division.

Gen. McCoy was born September 5, 1865, in Kenosha, Wis. He was an attorney and was county judge of Monroe county for sixteen years. In 1920 he was Democratic candidate for governor. Upon his return from the world war he was given command of the reorganized Thirty-second division. He served in the Spanish-American war and in 1916 went to Mexican border as brigadier adjutant and as assistant chief of staff of the Twelfth provisional division.

Man Holds Intruder Until Police Arrive

Walter C. Clephane, 6000 Connecticut avenue, early last night caused the arrest of Dean Lafargu, colored, 25 years old, on a charge of housebreaking.

Mr. Clephane told police he found the man in his library. He held him while his daughter, Miss Beatrice Clephane, telephoned for the Montgomery county police. The man was taken to the Rockville jail.

BERLIN AND HIS BRIDE SEEK FORGIVENESS

clined to say anything whatever about the Berlin family's attitude. "The girl only married Irving," he said. "She did not marry the others."

After lunch Berlin shook hands with a few friends and introduced his bride.

"I am very happy; there is nothing more that I care to say," said the composer.

Ellin was a simple little bride. She wore a dark blue walking suit. After a short motor ride they were whirled back to their hotel in the late afternoon. While they were taking a boardwalk push-car ride before dinner, William K. Vanderbilt came along, stopped, shook hands and wished them happiness.

There came a report during the evening that father Mackay had called his daughter by long distance telephone at 5 p. m. Berlin was asked about the story after he and his bride had dined alone.

"I will not deny the report," he said, "that my wife's father called her up this afternoon. This matter is one between my wife and her father and I do not want to butt into it at this stage of the game."

And here Mrs. Berlin came along and said, cheerily: "I am very anxious to settle my little score with father. The best wedding present my dad could possibly give me would be to appear in person in our suite. Maybe yet he will do it."

At the New York end of the line Clarence H. Mackay held conference with his other son-in-law, Kenneth O'Brien, and close friends. O'Brien was quoted as having said Mackay would "never forgive nor forget" his daughter's marriage.

By which token it was assumed the family lawyer would be instructed to alter that section of the last will and testament disposing of the twenty-odd Mackay millions to as to force Ellin to marry along on the income of a song writer, whose fortune now is estimated at $2,000,000.

O'Brien came to the front some time after he was first quoted as saying forgiveness was not on the parental books, denying Mackay had said he would never forgive, and adding that the father simply stood on his first statement, that the match was without his approval. Forgiveness, in any event, is a matter for the future.

No less important in consideration of the adjustment of the young people's future than the parental question is the peculiar religious aspect of the case. Berlin is a Jew and his wife a Catholic.

Montclair, N. J., Jan. 5. (By A. P.)—While Irving Berlin was on his honeymoon today with his bride, the former Miss Ellin Mackay, Mrs. A. B. Kahn, sister of Berlin, attended to her newspaper delivery route as usual. She delivers papers on a route for a small store in this city. Mrs. Kahn said she had known of the romance between her brother and Miss Mackay for a year. Like her brother, she was reared in the Bowery, Manhattan.

NORTHEAST MEN ASK H STREET PARKING BAN

Merchants Declare Autoists Take Advantage and Injure Trade of Section.

The District commissioners today will be requested by the Northeast Business Men's association to take immediate action to rescind the present regulation permitting unlimited parking of automobiles in H street northeast, Clarence Poston, secretary of the association, announced last night.

According to Mr. Poston, the present traffic rules permit persons operating machines from northeast as well as other sections of the city to park their cars along H street northeast, the main business thoroughfare of that section of the city, in front of stores and other places of business for an unlimited period of time.

Many motorists, Mr. Poston said, take full advantage of the privilege and leave their cars standing all day directly in front of some business establishment. "It is a constant menace and seriously hampers business," said Mr. Poston, "and should our efforts to obtain immediate relief from the commissioners fail, we will appeal to Congress."

COST OF RESTORING LEE HOME $100,000

MacNider Institutes Second Survey, Cutting Original
Estimate $125,000.

The Custis mansion in Arlington cemetery, once the home of Gen. Robert E. Lee, can be restored for about $100,000, according to a new estimate prepared in the War Department, it was disclosed yesterday. It was originally estimated that the work could not be accomplished for less than $225,000.

Assistant Secretary of War Hanford MacNider instituted the second survey, which disclosed that the first estimate provided for the abandonment of the mansion by its superintendent, and the construction of a new home for him and his family. The estimate in all called for three new buildings, which would have required the outlay of probably more than half of the $225,000.

It now has been found that only one building, a small lodge near Fort Myer, Va., would be sufficient in addition to the renovation of the mansion itself, and that all would cost about $100,000. It is said that it will be very difficult, if not impossible, to replace the furniture and hangings of the mansion at this late date.

Spanish War Veterans Take in 8 Candidates

Initiation of eight candidates to the membership of the Henry W. Lawton camp, United Spanish War Veterans, was held in the Old Naval hospital, 927 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, last night.

The new members are Stephen H. Talles, Edward A. Schiltz, Z. E. La Dow, Claude L. Pickin, Joseph A. Larkin, Warren L'Honnedeu, Henry N. Wiseman and John A. Markle. Installation ceremonies were performed by Commander George E. Burdick. Fifteen new candidates were nominated at the meeting.

ROLAND HAYES MAKES FIRST APPEARANCE HERE

Negro Tenor Delights Audience at Auditorium;
Sings Spirituals.

VARIED PROGRAM GIVEN

Roland Hayes, negro tenor, who has won renown in Europe as well as America through his art, made his first appearance here at a Washington audience at the new auditorium last night.

He delighted his hearers by his artistry, his dramatic expression and fine restraint in tone effects.
His voice was a sweet, but mellow tenor, of ample, but not robust volume, with clarity and golden tones in his high register, and a charming sotto voce. The songs on his program included numbers in German, Italian, English and French. The group of German lieder songs were particularly well done.

The technical ability of the artist was well displayed in his opening number, an aria from Mozart. He gave his first encore after the singing of "Le Reve" (from Manon) by Massenet. A group of old English songs also met with a cordial welcome. Throughout the evening the audience was most enthusiastic, and the applause at times amounted to an ovation.

The genius of Hayes was best exhibited, in the opinion of many last night, in his notable singing of negro spirituals, into the interpen-etration of which he infused infinite pathos and the religious fervor and soul of his race. Yet the artistic balance was admirable. So many requests came to him for more spirituals that he was obliged to limit his response to three—"Swing
Low, Sweet Chariot," "Go Down, Moses," and "Crucifixion," the last named of which he sang with tragic intensity and with a world of feeling in his tones.

MT. RAINIER PLANS BEAUTIFUL HOMES

Campaign Is Begun by the Woman's Civic League;
To Have Contest.

A campaign for the beautification of every home in the town was launched by the Women's Civic League of Mount Rainier at the monthly meeting last night in the Mount Rainier public school. The campaign will be initiated immediately and will culminate in a home beautiful contest this summer.

A health clinic for children attending the school will be established under the auspices of the league. It will be conducted by State health authorities. Plans to establish a library in the school were discussed. The library will be developed by contributions of books and money.

The first anniversary of the association will be celebrated with a special meeting and entertainment in the auditorium of the school in February. Mrs. D. J. Orcutt presided.

Petition Demands Yourtee's Removal

Special to The Washington Post.
Hagerstown, Md., Jan. 5.—A public petition demanding removal from office of Judge Yourtee, judge of the circuit court, was presented last night to Gov. Ritchie. The petition was circulated today following alleged conduct by Judge Yourtee, who on Saturday night, it is alleged, visited the offices where Miss Grace Baker, of whom he is guardian, is employed. Miss Baker said she locked the doors, but, upon alleged threats of Judge Yourtee to break in, she finally allowed him to enter. A crowd collected and a call was sent to the police station, but Judge Yourtee was removed to his home in a private automobile.

State's Attorney Routledge today said charges would be preferred against Judge Yourtee. The judge today said his mind was a blank as to what took place Saturday night and that upon advice of physicians he would go to Baltimore for treatment.

FEAST OF EPIPHANY WILL BE HELD TODAY

Bishop Murray to Preside at Washington Cathedral Services.

The Feast of the Epiphany will be celebrated in Washington cathedral with a sermon by the Rt. Rev.
John Gardner Murray, newly elected presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America, in Bethlehem chapel at 11 o'clock this morning. The feast also will be observed in all Catholic and Episcopal churches.

Bishop James E. Freeman will give the address of welcome. The presiding bishop, who is bishop of Maryland, is expected to outline the policy of his administration. He was elevated to the highest office at the convention last October in New Orleans. Clergymen are invited to attend the services in full vestments, and to extend the invitation to their congregations to be present.

The presiding bishop will be entertained at luncheon in St. Alban's guild hall following the service.
Holy communion service will be held at 7:30 o'clock in the morning, and an evening service at 4:30 o'clock. The Feast of the Epiphany, which commemorates the visit of the three wise men bringing presents to the Christ child, likewise falls on the anniversary of the granting to the cathedral of its charter by President Harrison, January 6, 1893.

New York Philharmonic Players Delight Crowd

Schubert's "Unfinished" Symphony and Strauss' "Death and Transfiguration" Features of Mengelberg Program at National Theater.

In a concert whose beauty ranged from Schubert's "Unfinished" Symphony in B Minor to Strauss' incomparable "Death and Transfiguration," the musicians of the Philharmonic Society of New York, under the inspired leadership of Willem Mengelberg, the Dutch conductor, captivated a capacity audience at the New National theater yesterday afternoon. The concert was given under the management of the T. Arthur Smith Concert Bureau.

After yesterday's concert no Washingtonian can dispute the claim that Mengelberg is one of the outstanding conductors of the age.
He brings to his work much magnetism, a wealth of sincerity, a scholarly quality, as well as an evident appreciation of musical values. Energetic and thrilling in the elaborate passages, yet he has a serenity and repose about his method which heightens the charm of the orchestral numbers. To watch him is a course in leadership.

The program opened with the "Unfinished" Symphony. While it has been heard before in Washington, seldom has its presentation been equalled. In the haunting cello theme of the first movement there was grace and beauty.

The noble measures of the second movement added to the keen enjoyment of the symphony and left the audience eager for more.

Widely differing in theme and school was the "Negro Rhapsody," by Rubin Goldmark. Native themes of the race had been elaborated with much care into a beautiful production. In response to the applause, the leader pointed out the composer, who was seated in the front of the house, and an ovation was given him, which he acknowledged by rising and bowing again and again.

After the intermission the program was concluded by the "Overture to Leonore," Beethoven, and the "Death and Transfiguration," Richard Strauss. The latter, which is an old favorite here, with his accustomed gusto.

To many present the Strauss tone poem was the high point of the program. Certainly under Mr.
Mengelberg's leadership it was nothing of its acknowledged beauty and the orchestral tone effects were memorable.

STOCK COMPANY WINS IN "GO EASY MABEL"

Presentation at Wardman
Park Theater Draws Small House, Great Applause.

Although the Thomas Herbert Stock company presentation of "Go Easy Mabel" opened to a very small house at Wardman Park theater last night there was enough applause to make a full house turn green with envy.

The play, by Charles George, is a human interest story with many complicating but amusing situations. The work of Ruth Harrison, as Mabel, the stenographer, is most creditable. Parker Fennelly had sufficiently recovered to take the laurels as Ted Sparks, the husband of dainty little Ruth Russell.

After the intermission the program was concluded by the "Overture to Leonore," Beethoven, and
the "Death and Transfiguration,"
Richard Strauss. The latter, which is an old favorite here, with his accustomed gusto.

Star Becomes Blonde; London Critics Rage

London, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—
Alice Delysia, star of the London revue stage, has called down the disapproval of the critics by a pronounced metamorphosis. Formerly remarkable for the beauty of her dark hair, she has emerged from the hands of her beauty experts as a pronounced golden blonde.

The change came when she replaced her revue, "On With the Dance," by a new version, "Still Dancing," with new songs—and a new Delysia. One critic, typical of the rest, complains that formerly she was of a type almost unique, but that she has lowered herself into competition with hundreds of blondes, hand-made or natural, on the London stage.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

An Important and Sensational Introductory Sale

WE are now building a new and spacious store at 709-711-713 12th Street, near G, which we will occupy on March 1st of this year. Our present quarters being inadequate to take care of our rapidly increasing business, and the desire to offer to the people of Washington a larger, better and more conveniently located store, led to this important step. This will enable us to give to our Washington patrons a stock and store service more representative of that of the parent house in New York and of our very large and important branch in San Francisco. We think that we can justly state, that W. & J. Sloane is the largest specialty house of its kind in the United States, if not in the world. We have been identified with the city of Washington, as retail merchants, for a period of approximately 21 years, and it is with great pleasure that we now find that larger and more convenient quarters are necessary.

As a means of introducing our merchandise to even more people than already know us, we have decided that from now until March 1st, we shall offer all our standard merchandise at prices representing considerable saving even when compared with our regular current prices. This offer will not be confined alone to that stock which we now have in our store, but to those further replacements which from time to time we will find it necessary to make. These inducements are offered for the purpose of acquainting more people with the class of merchandise that we carry, and with the extremely moderate prices at which we sell them. Our Washington stock is supplemented by approximately $2,000,000.00 worth of W. & J. Sloane standard merchandise in our store at New York. This merchandise is of a character that we are pleased to endorse. For approximately 83 years we have specialized in home furnishings, in which quality has been a fundamental consideration. There will be no departure from this policy.

We list below but a few of the many desirable articles which you will find here at unusually attractive prices.

As this sale will continue until March 1st, and there will be many replacements of stock, we suggest to all, that they carefully note our advertisements appearing each week.

We want you to know us better—to feel free at all times to compare our merchandise and prices with all others—to realize that you are always welcome, whether or not an immediate purchase is contemplated.

FOR THOSE WHO MAY DESIRE TO PAY FOR THEIR PURCHASES FROM INCOME, WE HAVE ESTABLISHED A CONVENIENT METHOD OF CHARGE ACCOUNTS, WHICH WE WILL BE GLAD TO EXPLAIN TO THOSE INTERESTED

MODISH MITZI

Mitzi is dashing home in a hurry when she notices something quite new in a shop window. It is printed futurist underwear. Mitzi owns a futurist dress or two, a hat, a couple of scarfs and a purse—but underwear! It doesn't take a fortune teller to foretell Mitzi's next move.

The Game Ends in a Tie

Polly sees some, too. Polly thinks if she buys this nightgown today she may have one fashion before Mitzi gets it. Polly is always hopeful. While she meditates notice her little fur trimmed hat and the coat that is made to look like a two-piece dress.

Adelaide, too, is ensnared by the bizzarerie of cubes and slabs of color splashed haphazard on a green silk background. Adelaide's hat illustrates the new high-crowned mode in headgear and Adelaide's wrap has a new spreading collar that is very smart. Notice the pocket on the front of the pajamas!

This game of Fashion, Fashion, Who's Got The Fashion? ends as it always does. No one wins, but they all have something absolutely new to wear. It's becoming quite a study—keeping to one's period. Fancy the awful effect of wearing futurist underwear beneath an ingenue frock!

The Lighthouse of Alexandria

At about the same time that the Colossus of Rhodes was put up, workmen in northern Egypt were busy building a lighthouse of great height. It was placed on the small island of Pharos, at the approach to the harbor of Alexandria, Egypt. The lighthouse of Alexandria was not the first to be set up in ancient times; but it was by far the largest. The exact height is not known, but old records indicate that it was not less than 400 feet high, and that it may have stood as much as 600 feet above the island surface. Great bonfires were kept alive at the top of this building, and their rays spread far over the sea. The fame of the lighthouse spread, and it was numbered as one of the Seven Wonders of the World. The Roman writer Pliny leaves this account:

"The tower was built by the King of Egypt (Ptolemy the Second). The cost was 800 talents. The object is to warn ships away from the nearby shoals, and to point out the entrance to the harbor. Pliny lived about 300 years after the lighthouse was set up. In present money, 800 talents would amount to about $1,000,000. That was a huge sum to be spent on a building in ancient times. Six centuries after Pliny lived the Arabs won power over Egypt. They kept the fire burning in the lighthouse. Troubles came about, however, between the Arabs and the Christians. The Christian ruler of Constantinople felt that the lighthouse was a help to the enemy, and sent a spy to Egypt to bring about its ruin.

According to the story left to us, the spy told the Arab ruler that treasure had been buried under the famous lighthouse. The Caliph believed him, and ordered that the building be torn down. He was later sorry that he had given the order; but by that time almost half of the lighthouse had been destroyed. The Arabs tried to put it in good shape again, but did not make it so high as before. In the year 1375 an earthquake shook the tower, and the mass of stones fell into the sea.

Land Given to Youth To Hold Skyscraper

San Francisco, Jan. 5 (By A. P.). In 1848 Adolph Gustave Russ was 20 years old and poor. Like all the others here then he was desirous of making a fortune so he wrote the government asking a land grant. In this casual way he came into possession of much of the land on which San Francisco's financial district later grew. Lots that belonged to him on Montgomery street have been leased from the family for 99 years by a corporation as the base for an office building with eight acres of floor space, exclusive of a garage on the mezzanine floor for the tenants. It will be 30 stories high, the tallest building in California, and the largest on the Pacific coast.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES McDONALD

The Bigamist Type.

DEAR Miss McDonald: I am just one of the many people who write to you for advice in regard to their many and complicated affairs. I am 18 years of age, and (as the saying goes) considered fairly good looking and a high school graduate. I am an average working girl and have many unhappy problems to face in my home life. I have a number of boy friends I have met through my work and its connection. Frances McDonald, these are one I hold in high esteem and who seems to care for me very much, judging by his words and actions, of late. He has asked me for more than friendship, and I am almost tempted to answer him in the affirmative were it not for the trouble it would cause at home. This young man is a very intelligent, wealthy and sociable young man, but just because his nationality differs from mine, my father has a grudge against him (although my mother considers him perfectly all right).

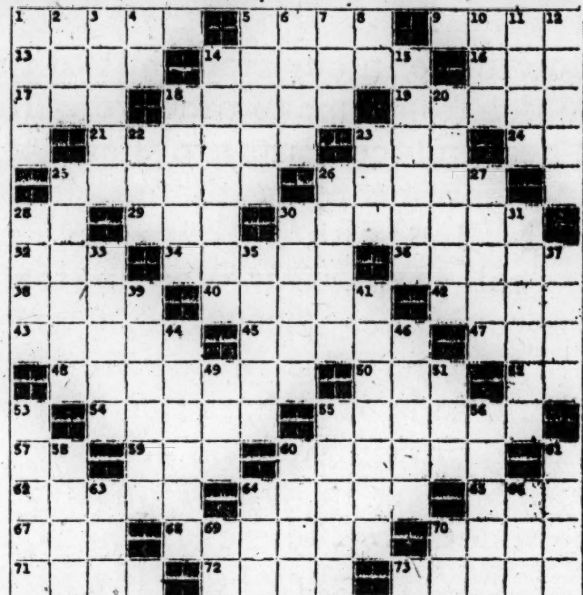

There is never a minute's peace in my home because of this, and I am very much upset as to how this affair will end. I was recently told by this gentleman that he was secretly engaged to another young lady (my mother and father do not know this) but much to his regret, for he finds that a marriage between them can never come to pass, and there is a difference in religion and he knows his parents will never consent to his changing over. Now, when I heard of this I consulted a few of my best friends as to what they thought best to do in my case and I was told that the more I thought of him and forgot all that came to pass. They pointed out to me some of the defects in his character and many other things, but I can never see anything but the good of this man. Even though he is ten years my senior, I love him very much and will never think otherwise of him. My friends think it very easy to forget, but I know it is harder to do than say.

Since I learned of his engagement I have been trying to follow the advice of my friends by seeing him no more. He has been pestering me with letters consoling me and urging me to see the bright side of things. I have tried my hardest to refrain from answering, but I find it impossible. My father threatens to do some awful things if he finds I still go with this young man, but even at this point I cannot yield. I must see him for I find no other fellow that means so much to me as this one, and so I finally kept an appointment with him, much against my parents' wishes. Miss McDonald, I know you will think me a very impertinent and disobedient young lady for my age, but I know you would do the same if you were treated as I am treated. Just like a step-child, I am treated and I am not even allowed to have girl friends call at the house or go to a theater, party or dance. When I think of my life of drudgery, I feel sorry for my smaller brothers and sisters, who yet have all this to go through.

Please help me solve my most distressing and heart-wrecking problem as I am about at my wit's end and feel myself drawing close to the pit of destruction and about to topple off. Help me, please! HEARTBROKEN SAIL. So! He is "secretly" engaged to some one else, and if conditions were favorable it is the someone else he would marry. And he tells you this, and practically informs you that if he could have the other girl he would not consider you. And all this does not stir you to indignation, nor even touch your pride! Also—he is making love to you, while the other girl believes him engaged to her—and would not for a moment doubt his fidelity! My dear what first class 1925 model of "sheik" is this? And regardless of nationality do you think a man of your father's age could fall to see in this chap the characteristics that make it possible for him to coolly make love to two girls at once, without the least compunction? Will you take my word for it, dear, that this is the type of man who marries two women at once! The sense of right and wrong is defective. Such a man should never marry. Instead invariably he marries just as often as he can. Are you still interested in him? Not if you are as intelligent as I think you are.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

HEALTH IN CITY AND COUNTRY.

WHICH is the healthier—the city or the country? There never has been a time when this question would not start a row. No forum will permit it to be discussed because if they did there are not whiskers enough to withstand the pulling.

Nearly fifteen years ago Wood started the row by citing New York figures which put the rural districts in bad. The country folks tried to refute Wood by showing that he included villages and even self-styled small cities in the country class. Along came the surgeon general of the army with some more statistics on the question. He is accused of falling into the same error.

The most recent contribution on the subject is one by Shepherd and Diehl, who investigated the past health history of the University of Minnesota students, especially as to contagious diseases. They tried to improve on the method of their predecessors by dividing communities into five groups:

Truly rural, including villages with less than 50 inhabitants; villages with 50 to 1,000 inhabitants; towns—with 1,000 to 5,000; small cities—with 5,000 to 50,000; and large cities—50,000 or over. The method was to have each student write down a list of the communicable diseases he or she had had and where he had lived with reference to the adopted classification of communities.

The students from the truly rural communities led in pleurisy, pneumonia, smallpox and tuberculosis. They had the low record—that is, the best record—for chicken pox, diphtheria, typhoid fever, and whooping cough.

The people from the villages—50 to 1,000 inhabitants—had the high (or worst) record for chicken pox, measles, mumps, typhoid and whooping cough. They were low for pneumonia, tuberculosis and chorea.

The towns were high for scarlet fever and rheumatism. They were low for pleurisy.

The small cities—5,000 to 50,000—had the high record for diphtheria; they ranked second for measles, mumps, chicken pox, chorea and typhoid fever. They were low in scarlet fever.

The cities with more than 50,000 inhabitants were highest in nothing except chorea. They were lowest in measles, mumps and smallpox.

Summing up the record for all these diseases—nearly 20 in number—and classifying the communities on that basis, they ranked as follows: First, or worst—villages; second, small cities; third, towns; fourth, country or truly rural; and fifth, or best, large cities.

Love Confessions of Famous Men

VOLTAIRE'S COLORFUL AFFAIR. ALWAYS a rebel, the great French philosopher, Francis Marie Arouet, known as Voltaire, applied his independent rules to matters of love as well.

At 19 he told his father that henceforth the pen would provide him with a living. Arouet, senior begged to differ with him, and failing to win result by persuasive methods, sent him off to The Hague as a diplomatic attaché.

No sooner did he arrive in the Holland capital than he cast fascinated eyes upon Mile. Dunoyer. Mademoiselle was very pretty, but she was the daughter of a lady who practiced a very unethical profession; in fact the girl bore a nickname illustrative of the family calling. Voltaire, however, was headless and became her lover.

The French Ambassador was alarmed at this state of affairs and applied immediate remedial measures, the man feature of which was imprisonment of the gay cavalier.

But Voltaire was his equal. He broke out of jail and ran away with Mile. Dunoyer. From then on he tried to get his innamorata into Paris but was unable to, owing to his father's opposition, and finally, after two years of diligent effort, the romance cooled sufficiently for Arouet senior to claim a victory. The young lady married a count, and Voltaire went on his way to fame.

The following, a souvenir of his youthful affair, was written by Voltaire to the girl just before he broke out of jail in The Hague: "I am here the king's prisoner. They may rob me of my life, but not of my love for you, my dearest. I will see you tonight, though it may bring my head to the block. For God's sake do not write me in a somber vein; live and be cautious; beware of your mother as your most dangerous enemy; beware of everyone, trust nobody; be ready when the moon rises; I shall leave this place incognito, shall take a coach or chaise and we will fly like the wind to Schevevingen.

Call Funds' Drop Fulfills Prediction of Precedents

By S. S. FONTAINE.

New York, Jan. 5.—Call funds dropped to 1 per cent today, thereby fulfilling the predictions of precedents, the most reliable prophets south of Fulton street, as to credit tendencies, for the reason that they base their forecasts on experience, which is nine points of the law of money movements—allowing one point for the exception that proves it. Even the dissenters from the theory that a spread of 1 per cent between the official rates of discount in New York and London, concede that the outlook is normally—and actually, as well—for easy money during January, which means plenty of credit for the street to play with for the better part of the months to come.

And with the three hundred odd millions that are being paid out in dividends and interest there is every probability that there will be ample buying power to keep the market procession moving, with the periodical rests that keep it in a good physical condition.

"As" said the investment broker, in his own surly way, "investment funds, like the salmon, always return to the same spawning ground."

"And that," said the cynic, "is why so many poor fish are canned."

Be that as it may, the market seemed to have pretty solid underpinnings today, and reactionaries tendencies seemed to be superficial and due to causes very largely technical. For instance, when motors ran off a bit the customer's man said:

"Just shaking and not a bad following. The window dresser for the automobile show will be on the job before the week-end."

And he was right, for the washers and polishers were getting into their working clothes before the session was half over.

While big business is uniformly hopeful, some commission houses are beginning to advise discrimination in the purchases of securities, which is based on hard horse sense. The forward march of progress has been in the main uniform, but the directing forces have thrown out skilful lines well in advance. If the field ahead is clear there is nothing extraordinary in their halting or even in falling back upon the main body, getting into step with the support. That is tactical and technical as well. For instance, this is the advice whispered today by the customers' man of J. S. Backe & Co.

"It is a well-known fact that markets travel in cycles. In the last 25 years the period over which bull markets extended ranged from 19 to 27 months before the inevitable bear markets which followed asserted themselves. The present bull market began in October, 1923, and has been running for 26 months. It is pointed out that the trend of business toward further prosperity for the first half of 1926 was so pronounced as to justify confidence in the continuation of the present bull market. However, it is our belief that several groups are rapidly approaching peak prices and in order to profit further in the appreciation of security prices, the utmost discrimination in new commitments is essential.

"It is generally known that the prices of steel are about $2 lower than those prevailing a year ago. Yet, thanks to the rate of production and the volume of new business, the earnings of steel companies have been good, notwithstanding this fact. Higher quotations for their products and therefore greater profits appear likely in the coming months."

And over at Spencer Trask's the economic observer said:

"The accustomed flood of forecasts for the new year have been optimistic in the majority, although not a few economists of recognized ability point to developments which would bring about a declining stock market. Secretary Hoover has stated briefly the favorable and unfavorable aspects of the situation and, in the case of the latter, stresses particularly the existing real estate and stock speculation, overextension of installment buying and the lag in recovery of certain agricultural products."

There seems to be general acceptance of the fact that money will be firmer after possibly slight easing during January. Throughout the week, call money has remained at 6 per cent and the clearing house bank statement revealed a deficit. The Federal Reserve Board reports a decrease in bills discounted and an increase in security holdings, but in the case of the New York bank there was a movement in the opposite direction in both cases, and the reserve ratio declined to 72.7 per cent from 75 per cent.

"With the discount rate of the Bank of England at 5 per cent, there is room for an advance of the New York rate to 4 per cent without causing a large new import of gold. The New York bank rate may conceivably be advanced at any time, particularly if the stock market should show signs of too great excess. Unquestionably there is a distinct possibility that such an advance would mark the end of the bull market in industrial stocks, as Col. Leonard Ayres, of the Cleveland Trust Co., has suggested. Total loans and discounts of member banks secured by stocks and bonds were at a new high record on December 23 of $5,602,044,000. If borrowing became less profitable and confidence in the immediate future becomes disturbed, there will be no inconsiderable pressure for sale from this source.

"The steel industry anticipates increasing activity. Three more blast furnaces were blown in last week and this week will see two additional units in operation. The margin below 60 per cent of the total available furnaces would be wiped out if this increase should be continued for several weeks more. John Moody points to the fact that high grade bond prices have been tending lower since last June and that yields on stocks are below those of competing bonds. Wheat has advanced further and is now nearly up to the figures obtained at this time last year."

But if you want to know what Big Business thinks about what lies ahead on the highway, read the brief survey of the electrical outlook for the year made by Gerard Slope, master mind of the Chained Lightning School. He doesn't predict a boom year, but he does prophesy in solid progress along orderly lines, which is the kind of prosperity that helps the most people to the most happiness.

Achievements in Safety

Brakes and Brains

THE RAILROAD SYSTEMS of the United States are a far-flung, closely-meshed web of tracks. And over them run thousands of trains daily. These trains are protected from disaster by the Air Brake—invented and patented in 1869 by George Westinghouse, Pioneer of Safety.

Swartzell, Rheem and Hensley Company, too, has pioneered in safety. For in 1869 this house started its policy of making safety the criterion of every First Mortgage Note it sells. The yield of the Notes now offered for sale is 6 1/2%—an attractive rate when the high factor of safety is considered.

Hyattsville Grange Hits Back at Business

Stenographers Employ Football Measures to Win, 30-16.

Evans' Keen Shooting Only Bright Spot of Contest.

A STRONG attack in the last half enabled the Business High basketball team to emerge the victor over Hyattsville Grange yesterday afternoon, 30 to 16. The game was more or less mediocre in quality throughout, the only bright spot being the shooting of Evans, right forward of the Stenographers, who caged five field goals and took a leading part in the victory.

The visitors put up a scrappy article of ball during the first half, but wilted in the final period, when the playing resembled football or group wrestling more than anything else. Business made use of a rushing offense with short passes to a free player just over the line of scrimmage. With three or four of the Hyattsville players piled on the floor vainly trying to halt the man with the ball, he invariably registered an assist. These football tactics soon wore down the stamina of the visitors and their offensive attempts were scarce and, for the most part, unfruitful.

The two teams battled on even terms in the initial quarter. The play was fast and snappy, first one outfit rushing the ball down the floor and then the other. The defensive play in this period was of the highest order and Business was on the long end of a 6 to 4 score as the period ended.

COHAN, a fast and clever player who was the life of the Hyattsville Ave. dribbled the length of the floor to tie the score at the beginning of the second quarter. Cofinetti got a felder to put the visitors in the lead shortly afterward, but Evans knotted the count with a nifty follow-up shot. The lead seceded back and forth for the next few minutes, but

Grange Hits Back at Critics

Coach Zuppke Comes In for Panning From Pupil

Is Giving to Public What It Wants to See

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 5.—Red Grange is fed up with what he calls "the bunk and hypocritical criticism" that has been poured on him since he entered professional football. Today Red hit back.

"I'm tired of being a target," he said. "I want to do a little shooting myself. I've got a few things I want to get off my chest."

Red got them off his chest in his stateroom in the private car where, with the Chicago Bears, he is taking an 8-day rest here before playing an all-star Dixie eleven Sunday and leaving for California to play a Pacific coast schedule.

These are a few items of the cargo Red unloaded:

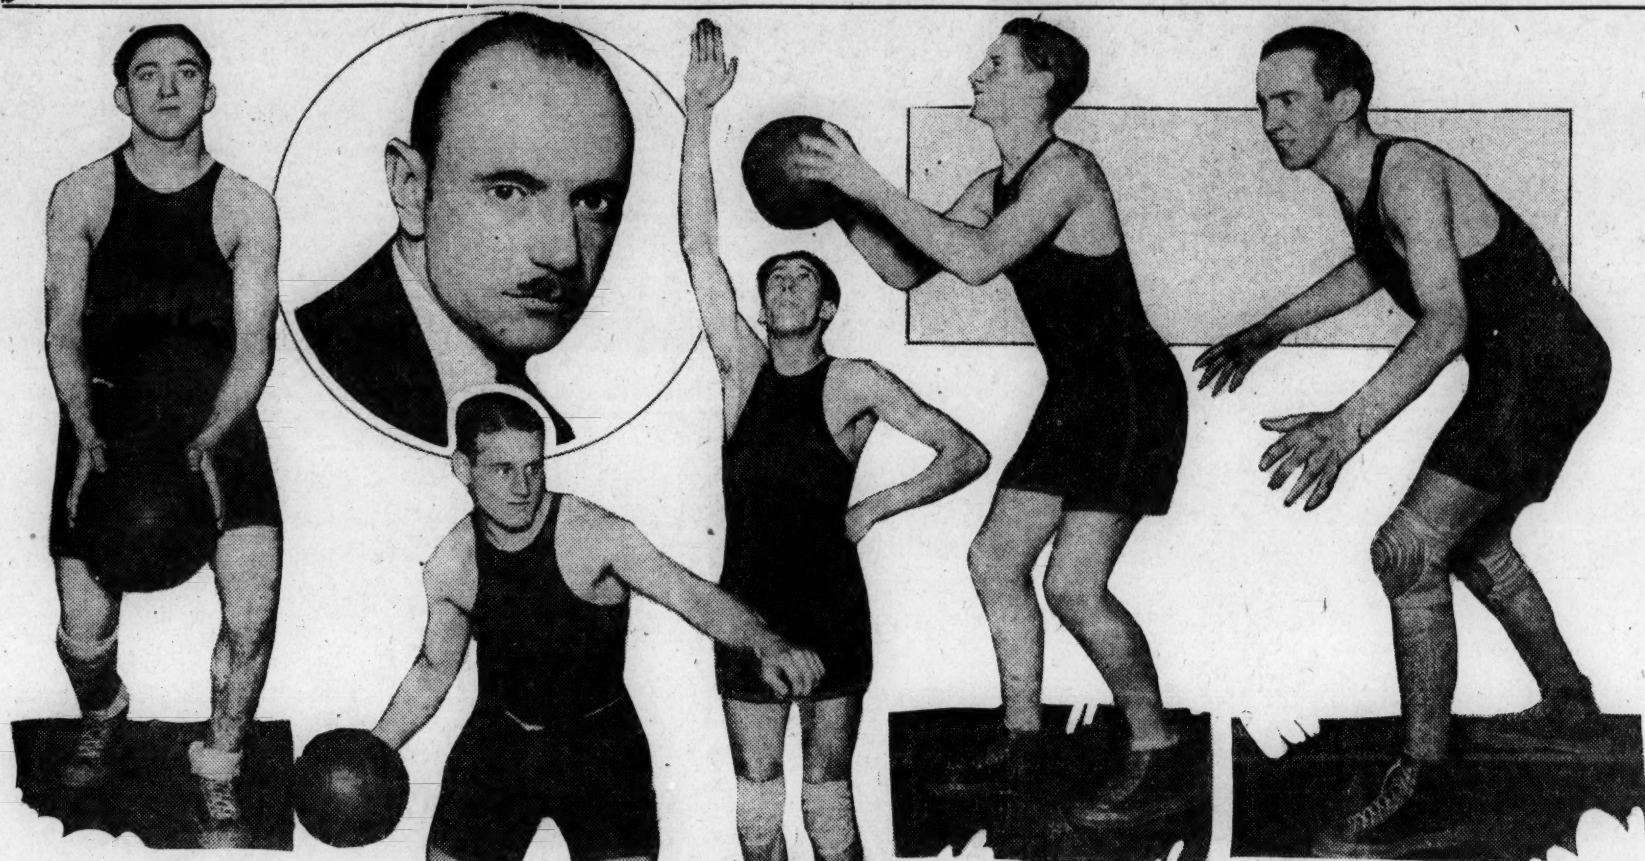

He ridiculed Coach Zuppke for saying that Red owed it to the University of Illinois not to enter professional football and asked pointedly Zuppke's loyalty to Illinois could stand the strain of more money offered by some other university when the Illinois contract ran out.

He thrust keen sarcasm into the "hypocrisy" of those who camouflaged thinly the fact that they are capitalizing their athletic reputations by going out as bond, stock and real estate salesmen and using their athletic fame to do the work of the salesmanship they lack. He had turned down a $10,000 a month offer to sell real estate in Florida before he finished playing the Illinois 1925 schedule, he said.

Two years will end his drawing power in professional football and the money, Red estimated calmly, "but by then I'll have enough so I can say when I'll work and where I'll work."

As soon as his football and movie schedule permits, Red says, he's

SHIPLEY WINS PRACTICE RACE

G. W. and Aloy Cross-Country Stars Prep for Saturday.

PREPPING for the South Atlantic cross-country championship run, an event of 6 1/2 miles, to be conducted by the Emorywood Athletic club, in Baltimore, Saturday, George Washington and Aloysius club runners engaged in a final 5-mile practice run last night on the Plaza playground track.

Despite the fog and damp track, Walton Shipley, of George Washington, finished 2 yards in front of Hurd Willett, his teammate, in the good time of 28 minutes and 15 seconds.

With the exception of an interval near the sixteenth lap, Shipley led the field from start to finish. Times for the first 4 miles were 5 minutes, 11 minutes, 16 minutes and 30 seconds, and 22 minutes and 30 seconds.

A. C. BONAFFON, of Aloysius, captured third honors, showing a continuance of the improvement which has led to the prediction that he will soon reach stardom. This is his second year at the distance game.

William A. Shaub, who finished third in the Baltimore 10-mile run New Year's day; Dan Healy, R. E. Williams and Jerry Looney failed to complete the jaunt. Healy and Williams were out for the first time, while Shaub and Looney developed incapacities.

Melvin Leach, marine corps star, will compete in the titular run Saturday. For a time it was thought that he could not enter. He was found to be eligible on a by-law which provides for the participation of an A. A. U. runner not affiliated with a club.

Shipley and Willett will represent George Washington, while Aloysius will send a seven-man team composed of Mike Lynch, William A. Shaub, Dan Healy, A. C. Bonaffon,

Alabama Gridders Greeted as Heroes

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—No conquering heroes were ever welcomed home with greater acclaim than was Alabama's champion football team here today.

Persons from all sections of the State and from all walks of life were in the crowd that jammed this little city when the Crimson Tide rolled in after its successful jaunt to the Pacific coast where it captured the East-West football title in Rose Bowl on New Year's day.

Gov. William W. Brandon was among the most enthusiastic of the party.

GREB TO FACE LOCAL BOUT VICTOR

Gill and Bashara Step at Arcade Tuesday for Big Chance.

HARRY GREB, middleweight champion, has signified his willingness to meet the winner of the Johnny Gill-Joe Bashara match, which will be the main attraction at the National Capital Sporting club's smoker in the Arcade next Tuesday night.

Grebe has appeared in this vicinity but once, at Kenilworth a couple of summers ago when he stopped Jackie Clark. Joe Bashara also won from the former A. E. F. champion in Norfolk last summer. Bashara is confident that he can make a much better showing against Greb than did Clark.

Grebe made a big hit with local fans by his whirlwind type of fighting. Any boy like Bashara or Gill who could stay with him for eight or ten rounds would give local fans a good evening's entertainment.

GILL, on the strength of his showing with Paul Berlenbach, Jimmy Slattery, &c., is figured to have the best chance at this match, but Bashara is reported to have improved considerably under the skillful guidance of one of Philadelphia's best managers.

Gill, who is booked for a return bout with Jimmy Slattery in Detroit the week following his appearance here, is working out daily in his Baltimore gymnasium and the Norfolk battler is working out with Tommy Louchran in Philadelphia. This is the start of the winter's campaign for both of the middleweights and they both promise to be in the pink of condition.

Three-Cornered Trade Involving Pair of Nats Denied by Everybody

PRESIDENT CLARK GRIFFITH last night took time off from packing up for his Florida trip, on which he starts this morning, to deny the latest effort of the "hot shoe league," which has the Nats, Browns and Yankees figuring in a three-cornered trade.

Rumor says that Pitcher Tom Zachary and infielder Spencer Adams are to go to New York for Pitcher Waite Hoyt, Huggins planning to trade them, and possibly Aaron Ward, for Marty McManus.

"There's nothing to it at all," said Griffith, "and I ought to know if anything like that is in the wind." Col. Jake Ruppert, Yankee owner, and Business Manager Bill Friel, of the Browns, also have come forth with similar statements.

CHALLENGER TAKES BIG CUE LEAD

"Young Jake" Is Now Leading Horemans, 1,000 to 572.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—Young Jake Schaefer was virtually assured recovery of his recently-lost world's championship at 18.2 balk line billiards tonight, when, in the second block of his contest with Edouard Horemans, the Belgian titleholder, he took a lead of 1,000 to 572. In the second 500-point block of their 1,500-point match, he scored 500 to Horemans' 197.

Schaefer displayed remarkable mastery over the balls tonight, and required only four innings, which made his average 125. Horemans played good billiards, too, having an average of 65 2-3.

THE result of tonight's block never was in doubt from the opening inning, when Schaefer added 148 to an unfinished run of 22 last night. Horemans, in his first turn at the table, seemed to suffer from the nervousness evidenced last night, but in the only other two tries that he got, he got an 89 and a 91.

Schaefer got his high run of the two blocks in his third turn at the table tonight when he counted 210. From that point, the contest assumed the aspects of a runaway race.

The final 500 point block will be played tomorrow afternoon. Schaefer again will have the opening shot with the balls grouped closely at the head of the table. That was where he left them with his unfinished run of 123 tonight.

Score by innings:

Schaefer, 148, 19, 210, 123. Total, 560. Horemans, 197, 89, 91. Total, 377. High run, 91. Average, 65 2-3.

Panther Officials Hold Chase Clear

Pittsburgh, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—University of Pittsburgh athletic officials have announced they will not take any action against Ralph Chase, former captain and all-American tackle, who played with the all-East team in the December 26 charity game on the West coast.

This action followed the statement by Commissioner Griffith of the Western conference that players participating in the game and are still in college were liable to be barred from further competition in college sports.

Chase is no longer eligible for football but is a member of the Pitt varsity basketball squad and may be a candidate for the track team.

COLORADO INSECTS WIN.

PALACE FIVE GIVES UP LEAD

Loses to Cleveland in Hard Game, 34 to 29.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 5.—Two monarchs of the American basketball league met in combat here tonight to decide the championship of the first half of the league schedule. The result was one of the most sensational cage conflicts in the history of the city. Fighting on even terms during the greater part of the game, Cleveland rallied late in the second half and won, 34 to 29, taking the leadership of the league.

Over nine thousand fans crowded into Cleveland's public hall to witness the battle between two of the leading basketball teams in the country.

Cleveland tossed in a free throw and the fight was on. Grody's good flip after a foul had been called tied the score and then began a nip-and-tuck session, with first one team and then the other forging to the front.

THE Palace club sharpshooters had tough luck in long range firing in the first half, while the Rosenblum five missed at least twelve free tosses during the first section of the game. Cleveland was leading at the half, 17 to 14.

"Horse" Haggerty, star Washington center, who was withdrawn from the lineup in the first half, went back into the game at the intermission and promptly shot a goal in from the middle of the floor. Several foul tosses followed and the Palace Club took a slight lead.

Saunders and Kennedy kept the Washington team in the running during the second half. Kennedy tossed two baskets in the hoop from midfloor with uncanny ability. Deighan and Husta managed to keep the local team in the lead during the last few minutes of play.

Deighan was high point scorer, with eleven. Saunders and Kennedy tallied ten each. Husta was the defensive star.

Position. Palace. Haggerty (2), Hickey (2), Deighan (2), Russell (2), Saunders (1), Haggerty (2), Kennedy (2). Foul goals—Husta (1), Hickey (1), Deighan (1), Haggerty (1), Russell (1), Kennedy (1), Grody (1). Reference—Fitting, 20-minute halves.

WALKER PUT ON SHELF BY TOE

Cancels Milligan Bout State Commission O. K.'s Move.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (By A. P.).—The world's welterweight championship fight scheduled at Madison Square Garden January 22 between Mickey Walker, of Elizabeth, N. J., the titleholder, and Tommy Milligan, of England, was called off today because of the condition of Walker's toe, which recently was operated on as a result of infection.

Cancellation of the bout was approved by the State athletic commission after receiving a physician's report showing that Walker would not be in condition to go through with the match on the date set.

The champion has had trouble with the toe for some time, and it is uncertain when he will be able to resume activities in the ring. As a result no new date has been suggested for his match with Milligan.

Cyril Walker Plays In Richmond Jan. 12

Richmond, Va., Jan. 5 (By A. P.). Cyril Walker, 1924 American open golf champion, and Tom Boyd, former metropolitan champion, will play an exhibition match here on January 12, Fred Braswell, local sportsman, who made arrangements for the visit, announced today.

Pitted against the two champions will be the father and son team Wilfred and Jimmy Thompson, professionals of the Hermitage club.

40% Dividend Declared By Nats

Griffith, Richardson and Eynon to Continue in Charge.

Harrismen Cleared Nearly $10,000 on '25 Training Trip.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

AT the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Washington Baseball club, held yesterday at the Georgia avenue stadium, those present voted themselves a dividend of $4 on each share, or 40 per cent, was declared. This indicates that despite the fact that our fifty Nats were defeated in the world's title set, 1925 business was nothing to complain about, for yesterday's cut was the same size as that voted a year ago, following the Harrismen's championship win over the Giants in the great October handicap.

Clark C. Griffith, William M.

Oswald Bluege Signs Nat Contract for 1926

Another of the Washington club's regulars swung into line yesterday when Third Baseman Ossie Bluege dropped into President Clark Griffith's office at the Georgia avenue stadium and signed a contract calling for his services in the Harrismen infield during 1926.

When Ossie was injured in the world's series, the X-ray taken of his skull showed he had one of the thickest ever seen by the learned physicians. He showed no "hard-headedness" at all in coming to terms yesterday, according to the Washington club president.

Richardson and Edward B. Eynon, Jr., again were named as the board of directors and, following the stockholders' meeting, these three convened in secret conclave and decided upon the officers for the coming season, all of whom were re-elected as follows: President, Clark C. Griffith; vice president and treasurer, William M. Richardson, and secretary and assistant vice president, Edward B. Eynon, Jr.

THE financial statement presented showed several interesting facts. According to it, $116,300 was expended for players, $19,000 was received as a result of deals, leaving a net cost for "ivory," both finished and crude, of $98,300. The books also showed that, if several players purchased are retained, $10,000 more must be expended.

As no expensive rookies were bought last year, except, possibly, Buddy Myer, it is difficult to see how this much money was expended, but it must be remembered that $19,000 for a player is no longer considered high these days, and it would only take a few at this rate to make a hundred "grand" look like a German mark.

Mabel C. Has Wicked Set Of Heels

Alford Is Coming Out of Old Pickle Vat in Opening Race.

Darktown Has the Word on New Market, Expert Declares.

By BERT E. COLLYER.

VAN PATRICK. Knowing how the pelters are going to win is one of the tricks of the trade. That's my business, so is the husband of your mother. It has taken quite a time for the stable connections to ascertain the favorite proposition of old "Doc" Bedwell, but now they have it and the slaughter of the "geese" is to take place. All of this happens in the closing spasm at the Fair Grounds.

Those folksy juveniles have another ending in the opening heat. ALFORD ran last in his first appearance, but I must remind you that there are days and days. Watch this one come out of the old pickle vat and show a form reversal that will put "Mexico Joe" in the famous ex-foot racer, to shame.

MABEL C. is a regular hindoo over the Fair Grounds course and she has been dropped into a soft spot in the second event. This one is going to hurt a wicked set of heels and will be laughing at Judge Conklin as the field passes under the wire. Nothing remarkable about this, however, as "Conk" is used for a laugh any old time.

Darktown has the "word" on NEW MARKET. "Black Hill" Perkins has his agents lined up. This means that the son of Worlwright will not stop as in his previous race. They are going to dust his tongue with too powder and Earl Pool will do the rest.

In the feature race, TIESTER has been running so splendidly that he is given first consideration over the Goldblatt entry of ARCADE and DISABLE, but he will not be able to lead on the journey. The GREEN-TABLE is selected for what is left.

PIRETONA is the jummy dog thing for the fifth. This one was in a tangle last time. Probably running for Mr. Sweeney, the agent who manipulates the morose and sixth, THE POET seems the class of the race and should enter all the way. Now, all together, shoot, rattle and roll.

Two Intercollegiate League

JONES IS HIGH SCORER

Cage Games Listed Saturday

Two intercollegiate basketball games are scheduled for Saturday. After the pair of contests are over, five of the six members of the circuit will have played at least one game. The lone exception is Cornell, which will play, will be the last to enter the lists for the title.

So far only one league game has been played, the opening tilt on New Year's day resulting in a 30-to-19 victory for Penn at the expense of Yale. On Saturday Columbia will journey to Princeton, and Yale will entertain Dartmouth at New Haven. Cornell will not swing into action until the following week, when it opposes Columbia in the Morningstar Heights gym on Saturday, January 16.

Of the two games to be played this week, that between Columbia and Princeton is regarded as highly important. Old Nassau is the present holder of the league championship, while the New Yorkers have high hopes of dethroning the Tigers.

A victory for the Blue and White would give it a good start in its quest for its first title since 1914. For the last two years the Morningstar Heights institution has finished in a tie for second place.

Columbia Jr. Cagers Have Streak Broken

The Columbia Junior basketball team, after winning six straight games, was defeated last night by Princeton, 31 to 28, by the heavier Eastern Juggernaut.

The game was close throughout, with the score being 17-14 at half time. Coleman and Moore were high scorers for the winners.

A Sweet Stomach!

What a pity when youth and vitality are set at naught by a disordered stomach, and bad breath! Don't have them as a result! Hearty enter—hard unbroken—high livers—find

Stuart's a boon and blessing!

Eat what you wish. Drink what you like.

Then chew a Stuart's tablet. That gives the stomach sufficient alkaline; the result is a sweet stomach, serene digestion, no pains, no gas.

Full Box FREE!

Every drugist has Stuart's tablets, 25c and

50c. Or, a full box free if you write the F. A.

Stuart Company, Dept. N, Marshall, Mich. Get

YOU TWO HANDED ME A SURPRISE ALL RIGHT.

WALT, YOU GET TEN PER CENT DISCOUNT ON ANY OF OUR LOTS - AND YOU GET NINE HUNDRED PER CENT DISCOUNT ON ANYTHING OUR SALESMAN TELLS YOU.

YOU DON'T MEAN I'D EXAGGERATE, MR. WICKER?

I'VE BEEN TRYING IT EVER SINCE I CAME. A FELLA CAN'T DO ANY LVIN' IN THIS COUNTRY AN' BE SURE OF IT. EVERY TIME I TELL A BUILDIN' WHOPPER SOME BIRD OVERHEARS ME AND OUTDOES ME IN CONCRETE AND MORTAR.

SOMEBODY LAYS A CORNERSTONE AN' IT HATCHES INTO A HOTEL SO FAST PEDESTRIANS HAVE TO COME DOWN IN A PARACHUTE. I'M GOIN' BACK TO ARIZONA WHERE A LIE ONLY HAS TO COMPETE WITH LIES.

Adventures of Jack Keefe

Dear Al:

Well Al things is getting so lately that it looks like I'll be in Alek the greats class soon and I dont mean that guy on the cubs but the old hot dog of grease what was pretty handy at the fight game. So far I bin hitting at a 1 hundred % average and have knocked everything x-eyed that they put before me. I got a idear Al that before long I and Dempsey has got to meet and if we do—you know who is going to be champion. Joe Whelan says it wont go 1 round and I belief him.

ELLA CINDERS—And That's That!

The man Mrs. Bevens thought was a farm-hand is Cyril Sweete, film star in make-up!

You know what he thinks of Ella!

And now he's found her!

ELLA! QUEEN OF MY HEART!

MAYBE I AM QUEEN OF YOUR HEART, BUT "I AIN'T GONNA REIGN NO MORE!"

LIFE WITHOUT YOU MEANS NO MORE TO ME THAN A STEAK TO A CAST-IRON DOG! LET ME TAKE YOU AWAY AND INSTALL YOU IN YOUR PROPER STATION. MARRY ME, ELLA!

I LIKE YOU, CYRIL, BUT AS I HAVE ALREADY TOLD YOU, I WOULDN'T HAVE ANYTHING BREAK UP OUR FRIENDSHIP!

SUFFERING RETAKES! I CAN'T WAIT FOR YOU ANY LONGER! YOU'RE HOLDING UP A COMPANY THAT COSTS $189.73 AT EVERY TICK OF YOUR WRIST WATCH!

IF YOU EVER WANT A FRIEND, ELLA, REMEMBER THAT I'D SHARE MY LAST STICK OF GREASE PAINT WITH YOU!

GOODBYE, CYRIL! REMEMBER ME TO HOLLYWOOD! MAY YOU NEVER SEE YOUR FACE ON THE CUTTING ROOM FLOOR AND MAY ALL YOUR CLOSE-UPS BE IN FOCUS!

... Rand, Jr., who has been elected chairman of the executive committee of State Cadets. The Rand-Kardex headquarters at Tonawanda, N. Y., will direct sales and manufacturing policies which are expected to result in a saving of about $500,000 the first year.

Stockholders of Inter-Continental Rubber Co. have approved a plan of reorganization by which the company would be dissolved. Assets will be distributed in cash together with stock of Inter-Continental Rubber Products Co., which it is proposed to list on the New York Stock exchange. Stockholders have the option of receiving 100 shares of stock and $150 cash, or 108 shares of stock and $70 cash. No other distribution is provided in the plan. Profits for 1925 from operations in Mexico and Sumatra approximated $1,000,000 after overhead and depreciation, but before Federal taxes, with fourth-quarter earnings partly estimated.

George H. Carnahan, president of the Inter-Continental, told stockholders that after 15 years' of research and experimentation he relieved the company now was able to cultivate a rubber-bearing shrub in the United States on a profitable commercial basis under normal rubber prices. He said a small commercial crop already had been planted and in a few years the company would be producing rubber in large quantities in this country, automobiles. The selling price of those cars was $290,500.00, an increase of over 100% over

The Packard Used Car Department

maintains a large attractive display room for the exhibition of exchanged cars on the 2nd floor of the Service Station and Garage Building at 1707 Kalamazoo road, out of the high rent district.

The volume of business during 1925 represents steady and continuous growth in keeping with all departments of the organization and the fact that the used car end of the business is handled at our exceptionally low overhead expense, coupled with a highly efficient staff, makes it possible to offer cars at all times which are well below the cost of new cars. We are showing cars of various makes well reconditioned and repaired and so carefully inspect that you can buy them with absolute confidence.

Even though you may plan to buy later we suggest that you inspect our stock now and see for yourself the reasons for such a volume of business in

HAYCOCK TO APPOINT GROUP FOR STUDYING SCHOOL CURRICULUM

Revision and Revaluation of Courses Contemplated, but No Drastic Change.

REPORT MUST HAVE APPROVAL BY BALLOU

Textbooks Also Will Be Studied; Time Will Be Another Element in Survey.

Revision of the public school curriculum, contemplated by public school officers, will be assigned to special committees to be appointed within the next few days by Robert L. Haycock, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of elementary schools.

Some time will be spent in studying the existing courses of studies before the committee will make its report, which will be subject to approval by Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, and by the board of education.

No startling changes are expected, Dr. Ballou said yesterday. The greater emphasis probably will be laid on a rearrangement of studies and a revaluation of them with a view to determining what greater or less amount of time will be given to each study, he said.

Several proposals will be laid before the revision committee by Dr. Ballou and his assistant superintendents, but he refused to disclose what his recommendations will be. He emphasized, however, that he did not intend to impose his will on the committee, but intended rather to direct its attention to the study of questions which it will be asked to answer.

Textbooks will be studied but, school officers said, there has been no issue raised in connection with any of them as was the case with regard to Muzzey's history, about which there was so much discussion a year ago.

U. S. Narcissus Bulb Culture Held Possible

That narcissus bulbs can be successfully grown in different parts of the United States was shown by Dr. David Griffiths, horticulturist, bureau of plant industry, Department of Agriculture, who was the principal speaker at the meeting of the botanical society at the Cosmos club last night. $62,500 Alleged Rent Is Sought From Hotel

The Franklin Square Hotel Co., Inc., which operates a hotel at Fourteenth and K streets northwest, was sued for $62,500 rent yesterday in circuit court by Mrs. Carrie P. Dick, wife of Charles Dick, former senator from Ohio. The latter has been in active charge of the hotel business almost ever since his failure to be reelected.

BAD FIRE APPARATUS CHARGED IN SOUTHEAST

J. T. Crouch Cites Engine Which Broke Down on Way to Blazes.

TO SEEK AID OF FENNING

John T. Crouch, president of the Southeast Business Men's association, yesterday charged that the Southeast is being made a "dumping ground for bad fire apparatus."

Mr. Crouch owns a barber shop at the corner of Eighth and D streets southeast, across the street from No. 7 truck company. The other morning when the truck responded to the three-alarm fire on East Capitol street, it stalled in front of the barber shop and was delayed five minutes.

"Last week," Mr. Crouch said, "this truck broke down on Pennsylvania avenue while responding to a fire and then again broke down on the Anacostia bridge and had to be towed back to the engine house." Altogether the truck has been out of order five or six times within the past week, he says.

Mr. Crouch testified that on several occasions to his own knowledge the truck was unable to leave the engine house.

"It's not only this truck but none of the fire apparatus this side of the river in the Southeast is any good," he asserted. The only new piece of apparatus in this section is a pumping engine at No. 18, Ninth and K streets southeast. No. 8 on North Carolina avenue between Sixth and Seventh streets, is the only other engine house in the southeast on the city side of the river, making a total of but three engine houses.

Protest against this condition is to be made by the Southeast Business Men's association to Commissioner Fenning. Mr. Crouch is going to bring the matter to the attention of the association at the next meeting on January 13.

WARRINGTON ESTATE VALUED AT $66,807

Mrs. Lucia T. Douglas Named Husband and Children as Main Heirs.

George Warrington, who died December 24, left personal property valued at $66,807 according to the petition for letters of administration filed yesterday in probate court by his widow, Mrs. Minnie A. Warrington, of 2110 Nineteenth street northwest.

Mr. Warrington owned no real estate. He did not leave a will. The estate includes the steam yacht Courier and two automobiles in storage valued at $15 each. He was also survived by a son, Chester H. Warrington.

Mrs. Lucia T. Douglas, who died December 23, names her husband, Albert, her daughter, Grace, and her son, Richard, as residuary legatees in the will filed yesterday. The granddaughter, Angela Johnson, is given $10,000 and $5,000 each is given to the grandson, Albert Douglas, and to the second child born to the son, Richard.

The sister-in-law, Anne S. Douglas, and the son-in-law, Morris L. Johnston, and the brother, William A. Taylor, are each given $500.

If the chauffeur, Russell Bonner, was in the employ of the testatrix at the time of her death, he is to have $500. Her daughter-in-law, Madeleine Douglas, is given certain jewelry, and her daughter, Grace, is given certain jewelry and personal effects. Her husband is to have the household effects for life.

The testatrix explains that she gave her son, Richard, $15,000 in December, 1922, and directs that that sum be charged to his distributive share of the estate.

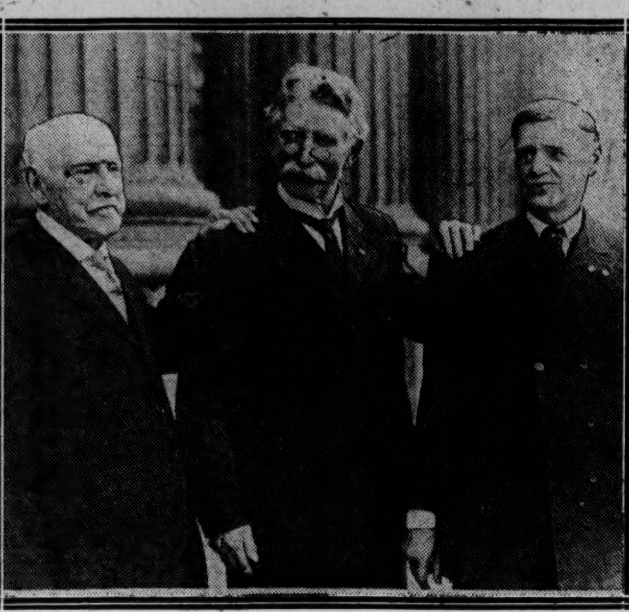

Plumbing Firm Clerk Charged With Forgery

James Reed Reads, 21 years old, 1022 Seventeenth street northwest, was arrested yesterday by Detectives James Springman and George Darnall. Seven cases of forgery were charged against him, while police say 50 other cases are under investigation.

Reads, police say, has for the past three years been employed as a clerk by the Crane Co., plumbing supplies, 1225 I street northwest. He had, police aver, access to the company's books, and with this aid he is alleged to have forged slips for the return of customers' supplies, pocketing the returned money. The supplies were never returned.

Fenning to Draw Bill To Ban Night Parking

On the same day that new opposition developed to his proposed ban on all night parking in the form of an announcement that the Washington Chamber of Commerce frowns on it for the present, Commissioner Frederick A. Fenning announced that he would proceed toward enactment of the regulation without further delay.

UNDERHILL OFFERS BILL TO CURB POLICEWOMEN

Power to Detain Children Would Be Given to Court Alone.

ACTION FOLLOWS CHARGE

Charges by Judge Kathryn Sellers of the juvenile court that persons were being held illegally at the house of detention found quick response in the House yesterday when Representative Underhill, of Massachusetts, introduced a bill designed to curb the activities of Lieut. Mina C. Van Winkle's woman's bureau.

Mr. Underhill, who is a member of the House district committee, made known that he believed the existing law fully defined the jurisdiction of the juvenile court, but he introduced his bill in order to remove all doubt. It would give the court full and lone jurisdiction over delinquent children under 17 years of age and would expressly prohibit any commitments of this class to the house of detention except by the court. Under its terms Lieut. Van Winkle's operatives would be allowed to hold prisoners without formal commitment only until court convened.

The woman's bureau at present arrests girls and boys and holds them of its own accord.

Judge Sellers Monday formally complained to the District commissioners charging that eight persons under 17 years of age, seven of them girls, were then being held illegally. Mrs. Van Winkle, commenting on these charges, said the letter was addressed to the commissioners and she "did not want to answer their mail for them."

Charges that the woman's bureau of the police department holds minors in custody in the House of Detention without court commitment, in violation of the law, contained in Judge Kathryn Sellers' letter to the District commissioners, were referred yesterday by the board to Commissioner Frederick A. Fenning, who had charge of police administration.

Mr. Fenning said he had not read Judge Sellers' letter, but that he would do so promptly and call Lieut. Mina Van Winkle, commanding officer of the woman's bureau, in for discussion of the accusations, probably today.

GALLINGER PATIENTS GET RADIO EQUIPMENT

Patients Enjoy Hearing "Loud Speakers;" $40,000 Hospital Fund Made Possible.

Gallinger hospital is now receiving its allotment of radio equipment provided for in the $40,000 hospital radio fund, a campaign for which was launched last spring by Leroy Mark, local insurance man.

Six loud speakers were installed in the hospital just before the holidays. Four were placed in sick wards, one in the receiving ward, and one in the office of Maj. E. W. Patterson, superintendent.

They have proved a happy addition, and Maj. Patterson says, undoubtedly an excellent tonic for the patients. Their effect on the patients is almost medicinal, he declared, and in the wards is considered pathological as well as entertaining.

Three more loud speakers will be installed in a short time. These will go in the nurses' home, the doctors' home, and the lecture hall of the administration building.

KIRBY GETS COMMISSION.

Former Bureau of Printing and Engraving Head Named in Reserve.

Maj. Wallace Whitney Kirby, former director of the bureau of engraving and printing, has been commissioned a lieutenant colonel of engineers, officers' reserve corps the War Department announced yesterday.

Maj. Kirby was a major of engineers, regular army, while he was director of the bureau here. When his term of office expired he was ordered to duty at the engineer barracks here, but resigned from service to take a position with a large New York concern.

CLUBWOMEN TO MEET HERE.

Each State Will Be Represented at Conference Next Week.

Women representing all the States of the Union are coming to Washington for the board meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which will be held next week at 1734 N street northwest.

ARTS BODY TO ACT TODAY ON UNIFORM FLAG DISPLAY PLAN

Legion Would Place Poles at Regular Intervals in the Downtown Area.

COMMISSIONERS ASK GROUP TO STUDY IDEA

House Bill for Mothers' Memorial Site to Be Discussed.

A plan for the establishment of permanent flagpoles at given intervals along the principal downtown streets of Washington will be acted upon by the Fine Arts commission at its meeting tomorrow.

The idea, said to have originated with the American Legion of the District, has been referred to the commission by the District commissioners for recommendation. Whatever action the commission takes is expected to be the action of the District commission, however. The legion plan calls for the establishment of metal flagpoles 25 feet apart on prominent streets of the city, supposedly downtown. They would be 12 feet high and seven-eighths of an inch in diameter. They would be placed in sockets set 1 foot back from the curbstone.

Approval Not Expected.

Whenever there would be a parade or public demonstration of a sort meriting decorations these flagpoles, regular in interval, size and design would be utilized by flying from them flags 3 by 5 feet in dimensions. The general effect, according to the legion, would be an easy and uniform decoration.

It is not expected that this plan will be endorsed by the fine arts commission as it already has expressed itself as to this form of decoration.

When the new high electric light posts were being designed for various avenues here, the commission told the commissioners that they should be equipped with cross arms from which flags could be flown at times of public celebrations. It is the plan carried out in Paris with great effect.

At the same time the commission will act upon the House resolution calling for the setting aside of a suitable site for a building to be erected here by the Mothers Memorial Foundation. "The site for this beautiful and lofty purpose," the resolution says, "shall not be less than 1,600 feet in circumference and with open space around it suitable for a monumental building which will fill a practical purpose while at the same time stand as a temple consecrated to the triumph of motherhood."

Chamber Invites Officials to Dinner

Elaborate preparations are being made for the annual midwinter dinner of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, which will be held at the Willard hotel January 27. Members of the House and Senate District committees, the District commissioners and other prominent local and Federal officials have been invited to attend, it was announced yesterday.

Warren C. Kendall, chairman of the chamber's house committee, is in charge of plans for the banquet. E. A. Smith, chairman of the program committee; Henry C. Cole, chairman of the seating committee; Harry Evans, chairman of the entertainment committee, and O. A. C. Oehmler, chairman of the music committee, are expected to attend more than 600 persons will attend.

Clayton to Address Citizen Associations

William McK. Clayton, chairman of the public utilities committee of the Federation of Citizens Associations, will speak on "Organized Citizenship" at a joint meeting of the Stanton Park Citizens association and the Peabody-Hilton Parent-Teacher association next Tuesday night at the Peabody school.

Efforts are being made to have a representative of Congress speak at the meeting by officials of the Parent-Teacher association. The meeting will be the opening gun in a drive for membership of the two associations. Much good work for the community has been accomplished through the efforts of the two organizations. It was pointed out, and a 100 per cent membership for this section of northeast is sought.

District Heads Accept Dr. Price's Resignation

The District board of commissioners yesterday accepted the resignation of Dr. T. M. Price, District chemist, who has been connected with the District health department since 1920.

Dr. Price's resignation took effect yesterday. His successor has not yet been named.
